Essay on Babs and Rubi

Once upon a time, as they say, I attended a vaudeville show at the old Palace in Nashville, Tenn., with Jess Neely, for many years now the celebrated head coach of the Rice Football Owls.

A couple of male dancers came on in about the third act. They wore silk tights and had henna-colored hair. They cavorted and leaped about in entrechats and arabesques and retired to faint applause.

I asked Jess Neely what he thought of them.

"Well," he said, in his slow drawl, "if a fellow was to start out to shoot all the absolutely useless blankety-blanks in the world I believe he would start with those two."

Here of late I have found myself thinking often of Mr. Neely's phrase. Indeed, there have been days when I wished to telephone him and ask if he wouldn't like to make a substitute.

Those days on which my thoughts so run are those on which I read a story about Porfirio Rubirosa, the so-called play-boy diplomat who has been abandoned by Babs Hutton and now is reported looking contemplatively toward Zsa Zsa Gabor, the cinema actress. I find myself fondly hoping they marry, even briefly, because I think they richly deserve one another. They are the ones I would like to substitute in Mr. Neely's formula.

Blushes

Most recent of the stories about Mr. Rubirosa is a routine one, requiring, as usual, a strong stomach. It was in the cafe society gossip-column manner and it reminded me of a line from a very recent novel by the mystery writer Raymond Chandler. "When I had finished reading this dog-sickness," he wrote, "I turned on the television and even the wrestlers looked good."

The story said that when Mr. Rubirosa was informed that Zsa Zsa had said she soon was leaving for Paris and would probably see him there, "Rubi blushed" and said:

"It's the first I've heard of it."

That is one blush I would like to wager never got blushed, but was one of those poet-licenses used by writers describing the international barfly set. They don't blush because they can't.

The story was too, too coy and cute.

Love

This cafe-society character was giving advice about marriage. His first four hitches were no dice. Two were with very wealthy women. From the last one he reportedly received a string of polo ponies, an airplane, jewelry and other gifts. "You have to know life," he said, "before you get married." Apparently he still doesn't know. Life in the cafe society set seems to have restricted horizons, though to be sure no one can see over any horizon, close or far away. And marriages o'er which has breathed the voice of Eden often turn out as sour as those of Rubirosa's which reek of champagne and polo ponies—particularly the stable. But, when he gives advice and when Zsa Zsa grows coy, then I want to turn away from that dog-sickness and turn on the wrestling matches.

You wonder if they never learn. . . .

And you wonder, too, what a fellow thinks who is sweating blood to make a payment on the 20-year-mortgage on his house and whose wife has to watch every penny, and whose kids are growing up with an education to be financed—what does he think when he reads about Babs, Zsa Zsa, Rubirosa and all the others . . . with thousands of dollars squandered on a drunken wedding, reception and honeymoon with some oily-haired bum cynically "thrilled" with his "presents" of polo ponies, yachts and airplanes? There are some, maybe, who take a squint at them and wonder if maybe socialism or even communism wouldn't be good for Babs and Rubirosa and their set. But, I suppose, most persons have enough sense to understand.

And, somewhat reluctantly, I find myself feeling a little sorry for the Hutton woman. Somewhere in all this she must have felt a deep sense of shame and sorrow.

H-Bomb Film Going To Public

By WILMOT HERCHER

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The American people will get their first look April 7 at a hitherto secret movie of a hydrogen explosion.

They may see a mile-wide island disappear in a glaring ball of fire and a cloud of debris mushrooming twice as high as those produced by the "old-fashioned" A-bomb.

President Eisenhower has authorized the release of a 28-minute motion picture of the blast set off in the Pacific in November, 1952, when this country's scientists began major firing tests of H-bomb weapons.

No official description of this explosion has been released so far, but letters sent home by some of the men in the task force at that time told of the disintegration of the island and of the huge cloud column.

Meantime, the House Appropriations Committee today approved a fund of $1,189,000,000 for the atomic weapons, plus the program to adapt atomic power to peaceful purposes.

The sum is $132,179,000 greater than the AEC appropriations for the present fiscal year, ending June 30, 1954, but is $152,039,000 less than the AEC had originally asked. Rep. Phillips (R-Calif) explained that the AEC had withdrawn requests for $238,000,000 for construction because it found it would have sufficient money on hand for that work.

As for defense against atomic attack, well-informed senators disclosed today the United States is depending a great deal on the swift, mass evacuation of cities and on improved guided missiles which can seek out enemies in the sky at speeds reaching 1,500 miles an hour.

They reported this after the Senate Armed Services Committee was given a secret briefing on the latest plans for continental defense.

Murray Collision Kills Couple, Truck Driver

Three persons were killed and one injured Friday in the crash of a car and a truck on Highway 411 nine miles north of Chatsworth, an five persons were injured in a three-way collision on the Buford Highway near Doraville, police reported.

A Columbus, Ohio, couple, Haymond Porter, 54, and Mrs. Haymond Porter, 50, was killed when a north-bound car driven by their son, Bill Porter, 27, and a truck were in collision outside Chatsworth, according to Murray County Sheriff Tom Peeples. Also reported dead in the wreck was Lamar Gresham, 26, Conyers truck driver.

The Conyers man was identified by Martin F. Hurst, official of a Conyers trucking line. The younger Porter was under treatment in a Chatsworth hospital for a broken wrist and possible rib fractures.

Two Atlantans, Eddie Simpson of 1025 Danner St., SE, and Charles Kessner, 509 Amsterdam Ave., NE, were reported injured in the Buford Highway crash.

Two others who were hurt, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cooper of Fort Chester, N.Y., were in "serious" condition at Emory University Hospital Friday night. Doraville police said the Cooper car was struck by a truck occupied by Simpson and Kessner near the intersection of Buford Highway and Peachtree Industrial Blvd. Friday afternoon.

A third car, driven by C. W. Hall of 664 Ashby St., SW, piled into the rear of the Cooper vehicle, police said. Hall received only minor injuries, according to police.

Simpson received injuries to his chest, head and right hand.

Panel Votes Out Public Housing

By C. P. TRUSSELL
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, March 26—The House Appropriations Committee, which pumps the lifeblood into anything done from Washington, voted today to kill the public housing program as soon as all previously made commitments were met.

President Eisenhower, on Jan. 25, had asked Congress for a program that would start 140,000 units during the next four fiscal years. He sought approval of 35,000 units during the fiscal year starting July 1. The committee proposed a financing of 20,000 units for that period, with not more than 15,000 to follow in the fiscal year 1956. It added:

". . . and that this be the end of the program."

Those units covered by the cutdown two-year spread all were under contract commitments. This meant that no new projects were wanted.

The House usually follows the recommendations of its Appropriations Committee. The Senate funds committee frequently is more liberal. It might make more liberal recommendations to its parent body.

In the interim there will be a fight on the House floor, it was indicated today. However, the House committee is controlled by 30 Republicans as against 20 Democrats, and the mood for doing the public housing program in was overwhelmingly Republican.

An effort by a Democrat, Rep. Sidney R. Yates of Illinois, to at

Stassen Off to London To Discuss Red Trade

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Foreign Aid Chief Stassen left by air today for London to consult with the British and French on the question of relaxing restrictions on trade with Iron Curtain countries.

The talks, apparently arranged at the insistence of British Prime Minister Churchill, were announced by Stassen's office about four hours before his departure, in a military transport plane.

Churchill called for increased trade with the Soviet Bloc more than a month ago. In a Feb. 25 speech to the House of Commons he said relaxing trade controls would be beneficial to the free Western world.

Last Tuesday, while East-West trade was being debated in Commons, reporters in Washington sought the views of Secretary of State Dulles. His reply was somewhat at odds with Churchill's statement, although leaving room for compromise.

Dulles said the United States favors a greater measure of restriction on trade with the Communists than seems to be desired by her principal allies.

But he said a proper policy could be worked out among the Allies.

The Foreign Operations Administration said Stassen will confer in London until next Wednesday with a British delegation headed by Lord Redding, undersecretary for foreign affairs, and a French delegation, led by Maurice Schumann, secretary of state. The announcement said they will "exchange views on policy concerning trade with the Soviet Union and the Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe."

Britain has been pressing for some time for a relaxation of the list of nonstrategic materials which the Allies have agreed to bar from Soviet bloc trade.

Georgia Highway Toll Up 31 Pct. Over Last Year's

Highway deaths in Georgia during the first two months of 1954 increased 31 per cent over the same period of last year, the State Department of Public Safety said Friday.

Lt. R. V. Richards of the patrol's accident-reporting division said 159 persons were killed in January and February this year, compared with 120 in 1953.

Traffic deaths in February numbered 70, or 19 less than in January, but 14 more than February, 1953, Richards said.

18 Killed In Mexico Plane Crash

Hits Peak After Landing Delay

MONTERREY, Mexico, March 26 (AP)—A Mexican airliner, waved off from landing in a dust storm here last midnight, carried 18 persons to death moments later in a flaming crash in the Salinas Mountains nearby.

A New York City accountant, James A. Johnston, who was in Mexico on a business mission, and four vacationing Americans were among the 15 passengers who perished with the crew of three.

FISHING TRIP

The other Americans were James L. McCormick, his sons George and Donald, all of Amarillo, Tex., and his nephew Burton Farmer of Guthrie, Okla. They were returning to Monterrey from a fishing trip to Mazatlan, a Pacific Coast resort center.

A bullfighter, Hector Saucedo, was among the Mexican dead.

The Aeronaves de Mexico plane, on a cross-country local run from Mazatlan to this industrial center, flew over the Monterrey Airport shortly before midnight and asked permission to land.

The control tower responded that an American Air Lines plane for Mexico City was just taking off and to wait two or three minutes. A high wind was churning up the dust of the drought-dried area around Monterrey, cutting visibility almost to zero. When the tower called the Aeronaves plane back, there was no answer.

SEEN ON PEAK

The charred wreckage was spotted by a plane pilot shortly after dawn 4,000 feet up on mile-high Friar's Peak, 16 miles northwest of Monterrey. There was no sign of life.

Gov. Jose S. Vivanco of Nuevo Leon State, who flew over the scene this morning, said ground crews might need two or three days to climb to the wreckage.

A search party found a fairly easy path up the mountain, however, and reached the scene this afternoon. The party made signals to planes overhead which were interpreted as meaning all aboard the plane were dead. They indicated burning gasoline had melted some metal parts.

16 Students Held Stealing Cars for Fun

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Officers today smashed a gang of at least 16 college students who were accused of stealing 42 cars, some of which to use in a game of "cowboys and Indians."

Sgt. George Taylor of the Duval County road patrol, who said one suspect admitted he stole and wrecked a car "just for giggles," reported that all the students were from "fine families."

Eight of the teen-aged students attended the University of Florida at Gainesville.

Others included a Georgia Tech student, an Emory University student and a student at Jacksonville Junior College, all residents of Jacksonville.

Police identified five of the youths and said the others would be named when warrants are sworn tomorrow.

Sgt. Taylor said the case broke when William Schiff, 18, of Miami appeared at patrol headquarters to make a voluntary statement.

Police booked Schiff, John Crump, 18, of Nashville, Tenn., Loren Walker, 17, Clinton Clevenger, 18, and Tommy Everitt, 18, all of Jacksonville, on automobile theft and other charges.

Probe Fund Soliciting Charge, Barwick Asks Chief of Merit Board

DERIDES RED MOVE
Chancellor Adenaur

Adenauer Blasts Reds' Sovereignty

BERLIN, Mar 26 (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer accused the Russians tonight of trying to delude 18 million East Germans with a meaningless grant of sovereignty.

In Berlin, the U. S. High Commission issued a report picturing the ruling Communist party in East Germany as still torn apart by rank and file opposition to its leaders as a result of last June's rebellion.

It said the party has ousted 100,000 members since the June uprising.

RED DECREE

These developments came on the heels of last night's annoucement by the Russians that they had boosted East Germany to the status of a fully sovereign state. The Soviets said they would assume the same relations with East Germany as "with other sovereign states" but would keep their occupation troops in the East zone.

Western diplomats and the State Department in Washington labelled the proclamation a fraud which in no way relaxes Russia's grip on her Rhineland satellite.

Adenauer—speaking to reporters at Rome's Ciampino Airport en route home from a swing through Greece and Turkey—called the Russian proclamation an old trick "of the sly Soviet politicians to bring more delusion to the East Germans."

SAME TRICK

He declared the Russians had tried the same strategy several times before, adding "everybody knows what 'sovereignty' means in a satellite country."

In its report on the East German Communists, the High Commission said the party's strength has been sapped badly by internal dissension on the eve of the fourth party congress opening in East Berlin Tuesday.

The report said the Communists' boss, Walter Ulbricht, claimed 1¼ million members in his Socialist Unity party. But, it added, Ulbricht could only rely on a "faithful core" of 150,000 to 200,000.

Frantic Bid Of Enemies, Griffin Says

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Merit Board member Cook Barwick Friday asked Chairman R. M. Walker to call the board into special session immediately to investigate charges that state employes have solicited funds for a gubernatorial candidate.

Barwick asked for the meeting to give Roy Harris, Charlie Gowen, "and any other persons who claim to know of law violations an opportunity to make such complaints to the board." Then the board can investigate the charges and take appropriate action, Barwick said in a letter to Walker.

"I believe that this special meeting, in view of the gravity of these charges, is necessary to protect the merit system plan in Georgia," Barwick asserted.

Barwick noted that Harris has accused certain employes of the Revenue Department of violating merit system regulations by soliciting funds for a certain gubernatorial candidate. He observed that gubernatorial candidate Charlie Gowen has demanded an investigation by the Merit Board, and that the press said Revenue Department officials had admitted in part the charges of fund solicitation. These events have made the merit system a highly controversial subject, he stated.

From his home in Jesup, Chairman Walker told The Constitution by phone that he will consider Barwick's letter carefully when he receives it.

"If I find a special meeting of

Runway Jet Herded to Sea By 2nd Plane

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 26 (AP)—A runaway pilotless jet plane headed for San Diego and a possible crash was herded back to sea by the pilot of another Navy jet today in what was believed an unprecedented maneuver.

The F9F6 Cougar jet became a runaway when it surprisingly drew out of a spin after the pilot, Lt. (J.G.) J. R. MacCoun, 23, Dutch Flat, Calif., had bailed out.

Lt. (J.G.) C. W. Vandenberg, 25, Ripon, Calif., flying at 300 miles an hour, then brought his Cougar jet close enough so that its wing tip was under the wing of the runaway.

He experimented for 12 minutes, flying under one wing and then the other, and found that he could force the pilotless plane to turn away from his.

Then he swung it around 180 degrees until it headed for open sea and finally crashed.

MacCoun, who was rescued from the sea by helicopter which lowered a rope to him, said his jet went into a spin from 22,000 feet about 80 miles from San Diego. At 9,000 feet, he was ejected by the bailing out device.

His jet, meanwhile, for some reason that Navy aviators said was unexplainable, righted itself at 4,000 feet, climbed to 8,000 feet, leveled out and headed for land.

INVITED TO HEARING
John W. Snyder

Red Probers Call Snyder To Hearing

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Former Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder will be questioned by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee next Tuesday about alleged Communist infiltration of the government under the Democrats, it was announced today.

Chief Subcommittee Counsel Charles P. Grimes said Snyder, a long-time friend to former President Truman, had agreed to testify publicly at 10:30 a.m. next Tuesday.

Snyder probably faces questioning about charges by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. that the late Harry Dexter White, former Treasury official and U.S. representative to the International Monetary Fund, was a member of a Red spy ring.

While Snyder did not take over as Treasury secretary until after White was promoted to the monetary fund, he was almost certain to be asked about the case. The late Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson was secretary while White was in the Treasury Department.

Snyder has been scheduled to testify last November but his testimony was postponed when he was unable to be present.

The subcommittee last fall made public a Justice Department report indicating Snyder promoted another Treasury official, Harold Glasser, after Glasser had been mentioned as a member of a Soviet espionage group in an FBI memorandum sent to Snyder's predecessor.

Showers Due To Dip Mercury

Mostly cloudy and mild is the weatherman's prediction for Atlanta Saturday and Sunday.

Occasional rain, the weather bureau said, will keep the temperature from rising as high as Friday, when it was 71 here.

Both days of the weekend will see high readings of 60. The low Saturday morning will be 50, Sunday 56.

Friday's low reading was 55.

Keep Attendance Gauge Down, Ask Rural School Consolidation Foes

Fighting desperately against consolidation moves, a number of small rural high schools Monday will ask the Georgia Accrediting Commission not to increase the minimum requirement for average daily attendance.

Y. T. Sheffield, principal of the Plains High School in Sumter County, said 175 rural high schools have been asked to join in the appeal. They will ask the commission to retain the minimum attendance requirement at 60 instead of increasing it to 100.

W. E. Pafford, secretary of the commission, said the hearing will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at the Henry Grady Hotel.

Opportunities for leadership are greater, and time and time again these boys and girls demonstrate in later life the values derived from these rural schools, Sheffield continued.

"These things are about to be thrown on the altar of bigness—somewhere we've gotten the idea that bigness means better opportunities," the Plains school head asserted. "If we can get the accrediting commission to leave the average daily attendance at 60 and not have the threat of 100 over our heads, I am sure that many communities will be happy, and that some unwise, hurried consolidations will be headed off."

Pafford said the accrediting commission voted to increase the attendance requirement to 100, effective in 1955, at the request of the administrators of high schools.

"A survey was made six years ago, and the high school administrators were asked what they regarded as the minimum attendance an accredited high school should have," Pafford said. "Many of them wanted more than 100, some wanted fewer than 100, but most of them suggested 100. Other studies have recommended 300. On the basis of our survey, the accrediting commission announced it would increase the attendance requirement in 1955 to 100."

Pafford said that a school with only 60 students can offer "a bare minimum of 16 units." By requiring a school to have 100 attendance, the commission enables a school to offer a broader curriculum without increasing the cost of instruction excessively, Pafford said.

Ike Orders Speed-Up In Metal Stockpiling

Russian Capability To Attack Supply Sources Spurs Plans

By ROBERT E. CLARK

WASHINGTON, March 26 (INS)—President Eisenhower ordered a step-up in the strategic metal stockpiling program today because of Russia's increased ability to attack the U. S. and free world supply sources.

The Chief Executive directed the Office of Defense Mobilization to establish immediately new long-term stockpiling goals for strategic metals and minerals.

The new program, the White House said, takes into consideration the fact that "the Soviets now have the capability of attack on the United States."

COULD BE CRIPPLED

The new stockpiling goals are based on the assumption that some domestic supply sources would be knocked out or crippled by an enemy attack.

The stepped-up program will also assume that, in the event of enemy attack, no foreign supply sources would be available except in a limited group of countries.

The program will help spur the domestic mining industry, segments of which have been hard-hit by a slump in government and industrial buying.

BASED ON STUDY

The President's action was based on a preliminary study submitted last Friday by the Minerals Policy Committee, headed by Interior Secretary McKay, and unanimously endorsed by the cabinet.

It is estimated the new program will result in increased government purchases of from 35 to 40 metals and minerals. They will be bought wherever possible from domestic producers and purchases will be spread over a considerable period of time.

Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming said the new program will have a secondary advantage in that the government will be able to buy at the prevailing market price, instead of paying premium prices during an emergency period.

NO COST ESTIMATE

Flemming declined to make any estimates of the cost of the new buying program and said he was not sure whether new funds will have to be sought from Congress.

A White House statement explaining the program said it will mean that the risk of strategic metals becoming a "bottle neck" in a national emergency will be virtually eliminated.

25 Bombers Tagged for Indochina

By CHARLES W. CORDDRY

WASHIGTON, March 26 (AP)—The Defense Department said today it will send 25 more light bombers, ammunition and other war materials to Indochina soon to help hard-pressed French and native forces in their fight against the Communists.

The announcement coincided with the departure of Gen. Paul Ely, chief of French armed forces. Ely requested the additional aid during a six-day visit in which he discussed the Indochina situation with President Eisenhower and top military and diplomatic officials.

Just before taking off for New York, en route to Paris, Ely conferred again with Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Informed sources said he told Radford bluntly that the embattled French stronghold of Dien Bien Phu must be held at all costs in view of the forthcoming Geneva conference on the Far East.

Informed sources said some of the B26's should be taking part in the battle for Dien Bien Phu early next week. They said orders to send the planes to the front were sent to U.S. bases in the Far East at least 24 hours ago.

The Defense Department announcement said the additional B26 bombers will be sent to Indochina on a temporary loan basis. It said the other equipment is a continuation of the regular military assistance program for Indochina.

The department said new aid will be sent "in the near future."

French Grab 2 Key Hills, Expect Blow

HANOI, March 26 (AP)—French Union infantrymen today drove Communist rebels off two strategic hills before Dien Bien Phu, but a second major Red assault on the besieged Indochinese fortress appeared imminent.

French headquarters said new information confirmed the Communists are resolved to push an all-out assault on the embattled garrison in the attempt to strengthen their hand at the Geneva conference which opens April 26.

A spokesman for Gen. Henri E. Navarre, supreme French commander in Indochina, said fresh paratroop units have been alerted to reinforce Dien Bien Phu when and if the big Red push begins.

The spokesman said "many facts" indicated the Communists have decided to try once again to overwhelm the embattled garrison at Dien Bien Phu. The first attempt, two weeks ago, was repulsed with heavy Red losses.

Ike Eyes Taxing TVA As House Ax Swings

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, March 26—A tax policy to be applied on presently tax-free federal power projects is being studied by the Eisenhower administration.

This move is another in the continuing drastic reversal by Republican leaders of the public power policy developed during the last 20 years by Democratic administrations. It meets a criticism of private power interests which long have contended that public power projects in direct competition with private utilities should be put on the same federal, state and local tax base.

One of the chief targets of the private power interests on the tax problem has been the Tennessee Valley Authority, which today received a sharp cut in its 1954-'55 appropriations from the House Appropriations Committee. The House group also recommended two sharp restrictions on TVA. Both promise to set off a bitter fight in Congress.

RESALE REGULATION

The committee approved provisions to require TVA to pay interest on federal funds advanced for construction of power facilities and to prohibit the authority from regulating rates to be charged by retailers of electric energy purchased from TVA.

The House committee recommended an appropriation of $103,582,000 for TVA. This is $84,798,000 less than appropriated for the current year and a reduction of $38,218,000 in the Eisenhower budget.

A group of House members from the Tennessee Valley decided this afternoon to try to restore funds cut from the TVA budget and fight the two "crippling riders" on the bill. They will take their fight first to the House Rules' Committee next week. If set back there, they will offer amendments to the bill from the floor.

AREA GOPs RALLY

The bi-partisan group agreed the loss of TVA's authority to regulate resale rates would create "chaos" in TVA operations and that it would wreck the uniform rate system or "yardstick" which gives low cost power to consumers. Rep. Thomas G. Abernathy, (D-Miss) said "destruction of the yardstick ultimately would affect rates all over the country."

Rep. Howard H. Baker (R-Tenn) will offer, if necessary, the amendment to kill the prohibition on resale regulation. Another Republican, B. Carroll Reece also of Tennessee will move to restore the $600,000 in resource development funds which the House committee said should come from TVA corporate funds.

Denton Gets Life Term In Slaying

BAY MINETTE, Ala., March 26 (AP) Albert Sidney Denton, 33-year-old Birmingham businessman, was convicted here tonight and sentenced to life imprisonment in the slaying of Leroy E. Miller.

Denton was taut as the jury's verdict, reached after one hour and 35 minutes of deliberations, was read. When he was sentenced by Judge H. M. Hall about five minutes later, however, Denton appeared almost jovial.

The verdict climaxed a day of sensational testimony.

NAMED PHOTOGRAPHER

Lurton Lewis Heflin Jr., under indictment at Birmingham for bank robbery, testified he saw a Foley, Ala., photographer with a pistol in his hand standing near Miller's bullet-riddled body at a south Baldwin County airport Aug. 16, 1952.

Heflin named himself and Nick Montos, who is on the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals list, as two of three men he said met Miller. Nelson Hamilton, the photographer and three other men at the airport.

He said he had arranged the meeting with Miller to accept a shipment of narcotics for Montos. An airplane appeared, he said, and Miller and Hamilton began arguing.

"I heard Nelson tell Lee (Miller) to give him (the pilot) the signal," Heflin said. "Evidently Lee gave the wrong signal. I heard four shots. We ran up to where Hamilton and Lee were and found Lee lying on the ground. Hamilton had a gun in his hand and told us Lee was trying to mess him around."

DENIES DOPE ROLE

In later testimony, Hamilton said he didn't know anything about whether Miller was in the narcotics business.

Thomas Curtis Jones, a prosecution witness who also is being held in connection with the interstate transportation of stolen vehicles, admitted during cross examination that he testified in federal court at Savannah, Ga., that he didn't want to see Denton convicted for a murder he didn't do.

Miller, a mystery man who wore cowboy clothes and owned expensive automobiles, disappeared from his Bon Secour fishing lodge Aug. 15, 1951.

A party of rabbit hunters found his body, along with some bullets, about six months later near St. Elmo in Mobile County.

Also charged in Miller's death are Samuel J. Hornbeck Jr., sentenced today at Jacksonville, Fla., to die for the shooting of a Duval County road patrolman, and Heflin.

Recall of Luce Urged by Leftists; Assailed in Press

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution

ROME, March 26—Thirty-five extreme left-wing senators asked the government today to declare U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce persona non grata. If the government were to do so the United States would have no alternative but to recall her.

The move against Mrs. Luce was preceded in the Communist press by the most severe attacks to which she has yet been subjected. Not only were her actions as ambassador criticized but she was called by such slighting titles as "comic opera ambassador," described as "a kind of superannuated canasta player," and accused of being "stupid" and of expressing "idiotic" opinions.

The request to have Mrs. Luce declared persona non grata was in the form of an interpellation addressed to Premier Mario Scelba and Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni.

Perjury Writ Seen InRedProbe

Theology Prof Case Clam-UpStirsSolon

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—A Russian-born Chicago housewife, wearing a veil and speaking in whispers, refused today to say whether she knew if the Rev. John A. Hutchison attended a Baltimore Communist meeting in 1936.

Immediately after this Fifth Amendment plea by Mrs. Mary Himoff Neff, Chairman Jackson (R-Calif) of a House Un-American Activities subcommittee predicted a perjury citation against "somebody" in the investigation of Hutchison, now a Williams College teacher of religion.

CONFLICTING TESTIMONY

Jackson was not referring to Mrs. Neff, but to conflicting testimony previously heard by the subcommittee concerning Hutchison's activities.

"In all the time I have been in Congress, this is one of the clearest instances of the fact that somebody is lying," Jackson told reporters.

Three former Communists told the subcommittee yesterday Hutchison freely cooperated with the Reds in Baltimore in the 1930's.

MET IN BALTIMORE

Two of them—Earl C. Reno, now a Boston immigration official, and the Rev. Joseph S. Nowak, a Presbyterian minister who is at present a YMCA desk clerk in Detroit—testified they met with Hutchison at the Communist party's Baltimore headquarters in 1936.

Hutchison told the investigators under oath last week he did not know Reno and had no recollection of ever being in the Baltimore headquarters.

Today the subcommittee called Mrs. Neff, former wife of Reno, and she refused to discuss anything relating to Communist affairs on the ground it might tend to incriminate her.

McCarthy Opens Fight Over Cheese

By W. H. LAWRENCE

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, March 26—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy tonight picked another public fight with the Eisenhower administration—this time over cheese instead of Communists.

While the investigation of his latest row with the Army lagged for lack of counsel, the Wisconsin Republican told newsmen his staff investigators were looking into Agriculture Department cheese transactions, which, he said, held out quick profits for cheese warehousers but not for the farmers.

McCarthy has been turned down by the other six members of his permanent subcommittee on investigations on his request that he be permitted to resume his hunt for Reds in industry while his controversy with the Army still is unresolved.

Today he explained to reporters he had acted in the cheese matter under a committee rule permitting the chairman to direct a "preliminary inquiry" by staff members before reporting to the full investigating group.

As McCarthy explained it, the government is buying cheese from the warehousers at 37 cents a pound, and selling it back to them the same day, possibly within an hour, at 34¼ cents a pound. He said 28,600,000 pounds of cheese had been bought and sold on that basis since March 4.

The Agriculture department advised newsmen the senator didn't have the facts straight. They said the cheese was being purchased at the present support price, based on 90 per cent of parity, and would be resold to the warehousemen on April 1 when the lower supports, based on 75 per cent of parity, become effective.

Her Troops Join EDC, Britain Says

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—Britain has offered limited participation of her air and army units in the projected European Defense Community as a final inducement to win French approval of the six-nation army, informed sources said today.

Sir Christopher Steel, Britain's NATO delegate, has put the offer before the interim EDC committee now meeting in Paris, together with other proposals designed to quiet French fears about EDC, which provides for West German rearmament. The British proposals fall just short of making Britain a full member of the continental army.

France has demanded close British collaboration with EDC as one of the conditions for ratifying the plan. The French want British divisions kept in Europe to balance off the 12 West German divisions which EDC will bring into being for defense of Europe.

Informants said Sir Christopher has notified France that Britain will agree to consult with EDC members before drastically cutting down on the four British divisions now stationed on the continent. The United States is expected to help along the EDC project when it comes up before the French Parliament for ratification by declaring that it has no present intention to withdraw American troops from Europe either.

Truman Advises 'Great Investigator' Work for Malenkov in Hunting Spies

KANSAS CITY, March 26 (AP)—Harry S. Truman had something to say today about a "great investigator" in a talk before a luncheon meeting of 400 visiting chemists.

In an obvious reference to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) the former President said he had heard that some "fool Americans" had been accused of spying in Siberia and suggested "that great investigator be permitted to go to work for Malenkov and find out what they were doing there."

"He wouldn't be bothered by the Russians because they wouldn't object to his methods," Truman said.

He spoke before the Division of Chemical Marketing and Economic Section of the American Chemical Society which is holding its 125th meeting here.

Truman said he had heard that Dr. Linus Pauling of the California Institute of Technology had been "charged with investigating corpuscles.

"I understand he had to go before a committee and explain what red corpuscles were," he said. "I suggest Prof. Pauling confine his investigations to white corpuscles."

Georgia Welcomes Motor Club Visitors

The Georgia State Chamber of Commerce, the Georgia Motor Club and allied organizations want the nation to have the facts about our great state.

Starting Sunday, they will take 20 or more motor club and travel representatives on a journey through Georgia. The guests will represent motor clubs from most of the large cities east of the Mississippi, the area from which most of Georgia's tourist trade comes.

No doubt most of these good people already know about Georgia in a general way. But some of them have been conditioned by stories about speed traps, poor roads and a feeling that the tourist is fair game in any season.

Some of the unfavorable publicity has been purely fiction, arising from the sensitive visitor's feeling that he has been wronged when really he has not. Perhaps he feels that way becauses he "had heard about Georgia" and was looking for something about which to carp.

Some of the publicity has arisen from the crudity or even rapacity of a few of our law enforcement officials. For them the state must assume the blame and along with it the responsibility for removing their badges.

So one purpose of the travel tour is to "unlearn" the visitor, to show him that not all he has heard about us is true.

The other purpose is positive—to show the motor club people what is historic and scenic and restful about our state.

Next week's tour is the second in a series. The one last October, in which The Atlanta Constitution had a sponsoring part, was for travel editors of big city newspapers.

These travel tours are a good investment. When those persons who inform others about Georgia have the facts about our history, our scenic beauty, our good roads and our resort areas, they're bound to do a better selling job among those whom they serve.

Welcome to Georgia, motor club officials from Pittsburgh, Chicago, Miami, Washington and points east to Boston!

Make yourselves at home. If there is anything you want and don't see, just let one of us know. We'll try to get it for you.

Sen. McCarthy Wriggles; We Hope Fruitlessly

Senator McCarthy was quoted in the press a few days ago as saying: "I think the American people are getting awfully sick and tired of the constant yak-yaking. . . . Personally, I am very sick of this, too."

It is interesting to see reactions when the shoe is on the other foot. As long as Senator McCarthy was doing all the talking he was in clover. He browbeat and bulldozed his way over individuals and departments, leaving as wreckage whoever stood in his way.

Right now the senator is engaged in the biggest battle of his career and he knows it. He is doing everything possible to wriggle out of the row he generated with senseless charges against the Army. He is squirming and the news indicates he is trying awfully hard to reach a compromise to hush the whole thing up.

Stymied in his efforts to conduct his own investigation of himself, the senator seems to have got himself in a position that could prove his downfall. As the main figure concerned, he has no right nor can he claim a right to sit as an investigator in the Army wrangle.

The evidence proves a common theory about McCarthy. He can dish it out, but when the shoe is on the other foot he simply cannot take it. And for once, he cannot divert public attention from his failures by jumping in another direction. Let's hope that at last he must face the music he is so ready to play for others.

The South's gains in income compared to the rest of the nation continues to exceed the national average, according to preliminary estimates of 1953 totals. It follows a trend that has been going on for more than a decade.

A report by the U.S. Department of Commerce shows that the Southeast in the 12-year period, 1940-1953, had income gains of 310 per cent compared to the national average of 236 per cent.

Relatively, of course, the region is still behind the national average in per capita income but the gap is being narrowed each successive year. The only field in which we have not equalled the national figure is in agriculture. Farm income increased 203.6 per cent during the period, while the national average was 213.3 per cent.

In other words, farmers have barely held their own in the national income picture while other fields of endeavor, particularly manufacturing, have paced the national growth. If farm income had risen at the same pace as it has in other fields, the South's per capita income would be greater than the national average instead of less.

Even at that, progress in agriculture has been outstanding. Twenty years ago the South's farmers were still using primitive methods. There were far too many people on the farms to achieve an economic balance—in fact, there are still too many.

Today Southern farms are becoming larger and more mechanized. The process has not yet run its course. Until it does, the South's per capita income will continue to lag behind the national average. That is a simple economic fact.

In the meantime, the prospects for continued economic advances in the South are almost limitless. From being the nation's "economic problem No. 1," the region most definitely has moved into the category of "economic opportunity No. 1."

Cobb Jurors Urge Loan Law Revision

In Cobb County, where the court has acted militantly against "loan sharking," the February grand jury wound up an intensive investigation of the loan field with some sensible recommendations.

The Cobb jurors said they would like to see a complete overhaul of Georgia's loan laws. Specifically, they recommended a law that would include (1) adequate protection for the borrower against excessive interest rates, burdensome and unnecessary insurance premiums, (2) high enough interest rates to attract legal lenders, (3) a raise in the small loan limit to $1,000 and bunching all such companies under one law with a state agency to supervise them.

Certainly, an equitable loan law should fair to both borrower and lender be. Surely, the present hodge-podge of state loan laws need clarifying into an enforceable code.

The next Georgia General Assembly should place loan law revision high on the agenda.

Justice Need Not Be Deaf as Well as Blind

The drama of the courtroom often packs a wallop and a lesson. But more often than not the impact and the moral have been lost because the lines spoken at the bench have carried no farther than the jury box.

Sometimes they have not carried that far, in which case it is no surprise if justice has miscarried.

Courtrooms were not designed with acoustics in mind. Judges usually make themselves heard, but witnesses often speak in whispers while the lawyer turns his back on the spectators and addresses the bench or the jury box.

The visitors to the court sit and watch and wonder what is going on.

All that can be changed, and has been in progressive courts, by the installation of public address equipment. The Richmond Superior Court at Augusta is an example of one that has recently put in microphones and speakers. Fulton County uses small PA systems in some court rooms with speakers intended to carry at least to the jury.

Wherever a PA installation has been made, the change has been for the better.

Justice may be blind, but in this age of electronics there is no excuse for its being deaf.

World Would Profit From 'Crackpot Pot'

Prof. James Miller at the University of Chicago has proposed that foundations and other groups granting financial support for researches set aside a portion of their funds each year as a "crackpot pot," to be used to help individuals whose ideas are big but whose methods of approach may be unorthodox.

As things stand now, an applicant for aid is more often chosen because he is associated with certain institutions, has an acceptable background, holds an advanced degree, and will use accepted scientific methodology.

But how many times in history have epoch-making discoveries been accomplished by non-traditional methods and by personae non gratae? It was imaginative heterodoxy that inspired the Wright brothers, Alexander Graham Bell, Marconi, Georges Claude, Darwin, Cuvier, Columbus, Galileo, Copernicus.

Professor Miller suggests further that such "crackpot pots" be spent "only on recommendation of a minority" of trustees or committee members, even by "one member who believes firmly in the project."

However, trustees should not be forced to consign their expressions of confidence to a "pot." The "hope chest" theme is much more apropos.

Lady Driver Says 'Hats Off' to State Patrol After Paying Speed Fine in North Carolina

Jefferson—I was caught speeding just outside Silver City, N.C., on my way home from visiting a sister in Rocky Mount. The patrol was as nice as anyone could be.

I had to pay the fine because I was guilty, but I certainly don't feel toward the people in North Carolina the way the man from the North did toward Georgians.

Arresting speeders is the patrol's duty. If we can't stay within the speed limit, "hats off to them" for their good work.

I've learned my lesson the hard way and I hope everyone reading this article will remember when they get out on the highways to obey the speed law.

Camel Driver's Tomb Still Stands in Desert

Statesboro — Mr. McGill's column on Congress and the camels might well be reprinted and distributed for the benefit of some lawmakers, that they might see that "fool visionaries a-wantin' money to waste" do not always fail in promoting something that will last, or last until something better comes along.

Like most people, I find it good to be able to say of a place, "I was there, too," so when I read the article, "I though of a place called Quartzite, Arizona, through which my wife and I have passed.

Off the highway a few yards is a tomb of one of the camel drivers, a pyramid in miniature.

Around the little pyramid is a metal plaque which holds that it is the last resting place of "Hi Jolly," a camel driver who was so called by his then GI counterparts. They had corrupted his name from the native Syrian Hadji Ali.

The plaque relates some of the data recounted in the article, and states further that some of the camels, after liberation, survived for a good many years in the desert, with unauthenticated tales still persisting of their being sighted now and again.

Farm Expert Bids Constitution Welcome

Athens—I want to commend you on the splendid editorial, "Let's Help Farmer Improve His Yields," which occurred in the Constitution under date of March 9th. We are very happy to have the Constitution on our team.

We are going to need all the help we can get to encourage our farmers to use practices that will materially raise the average cotton yields and reduce production costs.

These two things are mandatory if our farmers are to keep pace with the rapid changes that have been in progress in recent years.

Puerto Rican's Note Clears the Picture

Attention Puerto Rico. It was all a big mistake.

An early edition of The Constitution of March 8 contained a picture described as the headquarters of the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party. This organization spawned the fanatics who tried to kill President Truman and who more recently made a shooting gallery out of the U.S. House of Representatives.

The dominant and exact opposite party in Puerto Rico is the Popular Democratic Party. It is all for law and order and democratic processes.

We now have on hand a letter from the office of the governor of Puerto Rico. The letter follows:

"The alleged 'exterior view of the headquarters of the Puerto Rico Nationalist Party' which appeared in your issue of March 8th happens to be the exterior view of the local headquarters of the Popular Democratic Party in a suburb of San Juan. The Popular Democratic Party is the majority party which obtained 65 per cent of the votes in the 1952 elections and should never be confused with the minute band of fanatics which call themselves the Nationalist Party and which count with only 500 members.

"I am enclosing a photograph of the headquarters of the Nationalist Party after the shooting.

"I am also enclosing some literature on Puerto Rico.

"Sincerely, Francisco Jose Gardona, Special Assistant to the Governor."

By way of explanation to the Honorable Jose Gardona, as well as to our readers, this is the way the wrong picture got in the paper:

Shortly after the congressional shooting and while interest in the event continued high, an Atlanta resident called the news room and asked if we would be interested in a photograph of the Nationalist headquarters. He was told to bring it around.

The caller and the picture shortly appeared on the scene. He explained his local business connection and then outlined his acquaintance with Puerto Rico. He had lived there for two years and was thoroughly familiar with San Juan, the capital. The picture of the "Nationalist Headquarters" was taken by himself, a snapshot, and he was certain—positive—of the identification of the building. And, just to contribute to coverage of the event, he would be glad to give us the photograph. Apparently there was no reason to doubt the genuineness of the offer or of the photo.

That's how the picture got in the paper.

The literature on Puerto Rico so graciously sent by the assistant to the governor is very interesting. There are copies of three speeches by the Honorable Luis Munoz Marin, Governor of Puerto Rico and there are articles about the political, social and geographic aspects of the commonwealth.

The picture of the true headquarters of the Nationalist Party is in no aspects the same as that run in the paper. In fact, the only similarity appears to be that both buildings have a roof.

The Honorable Francisco Jose Gardona has made a good point.

Chain of Justice Stations Needed

The plumbing supply president from Indiana who paid a $17 speeding fine at Abbeville and then wrote Gov. Herman Talmadge a letter has responded to the invitation for a rebuttal to the State Patrol-Wilcox County version of the incident. He is now on record with a good-tempered reply which indicates a sense of humor if still a resentment against what he calls our "toll road system."

The man admits the speeding charge, but would reduce the alleged rate by 10 miles an hour. He denies the validity of the statements by Wilcox County deputy sheriff T. J. Smith, encloses a "receipt" issued by the deputy and closes with, "Now let us get back to McCarthy, Cohn and Schine."

Obviously, the man was exceeding our speed limit. The $17 fine was not excessive, a Georgian might have paid $40. But the nature of the "receipt" itself shows something lacking in our handling of traffic cases. Look at it:

Date 2-28 1954

Received of Herbert Strong

The Sum of $ ——— Cash Collateral for Appearance

In Court of Ord

On Date 2-28-54

City of Abbeville St

Wilcox County

Signed ———— Chief of Police

Signed T. J. Smith

Wilcox County, Georgia

The document is a form on the back of a State Patrol arrest ticket. It is supposed to indicate the temporary disposition of the case. The one in point does not. It says "Received of," but the space to show what was received is blank.

The piece of paper simply proves (Sheriff) T. J. Smith of Abbeville took something from Herbert E. Strong. Cash bond or fine and if so how much? There is no "showing."

And therein, it seems to me, lies the general weakness of traffic justice.

Perhaps, along with welcome stations we should consider the setting up at intervals along the highways of special traffic courts manned by personnel schooled in efficiency and courtesy. Then the offender would be assured a uniformity of treatment. McKeesport, Pa., for example, has a drive-in station for the collection of traffic fines.

A Phone Is Fine For the Childless

He came clumping down the stairs, looking mighty smug, and as he passed the mirror he glanced at himself admiringly and slicked his hair back. It didn't do any good. When you are 11 years old your hair is like pig bristles.

"I just talked to Penny on the phone," he said, airily.

"So," I said. He talks to Penny on the phone every night. He talks so long I can't ring home from downtown.

I have to call the operator and she calls the supervisor, and I tell her my little boy is on the phone talking to his girl friend and I'm starving to death and want to go home to supper and I want somebody to pick me up at the carline, and I can't tell them to because my phone is busy. So the supervisor calls and shoos him off the phone and makes him sore.

"She's just fine," he said. "She's having fun." That didn't startle me either. Penny's always fine. She's a pert little blonde and cute as pie and her voice is full of laughter. She has fun all the time.

"She says it's warm down there," he said.

I pricked up my ears, suspicious now. This thing had suddenly taken on overtones that disturbed me.

"Down where," I said darkly.

"Huh?" he said, looking in the mirror and slicking his hair. "Oh," he said casually, "Savannah. She's visiting in Savannah and told me the telephone number and said it only cost a dollar a minute. So I looked at my watch and called her and when the second hand said a minute I hung up."

"Look, Lothario," I said. "Heed this, Don Juan. Do NOT, repeat Not, be making any more long distance calls on this telephone. It costs 90 cents for three minutes, plus tax, which makes it about $1.13 and I do not intend to underwrite any little boy's romance at $1.13 per minute. Anyhow, you got stung, you could have talked three minutes for the same price.

"The heck!" he said, surprised. "Thassa cheat."

He stalked off. A few minutes later I heard the upstairs phone click. Three times, as if somebody was dialing 110.

Maybe I shouldn't have snatched him off the phone and put him to bed. It would have been worth hearing—him trying to argue that operator into giving him, free, the two minutes she owed him.

Life May Change But Truth Never

During a fierce battle in World War I, so the story goes, an armored tank moved into action. At a particular spot, far from the line of conflict, the tank came to a halt. There was, apparently, no reason why the tank should not have moved forward. It had not been disabled by enemy fire, for it was not yet within range of enemy guns. The commander sent a patrol out to determine the reason. The reason was immediately given.

The tank had reached "the edge of its map." At the beginning of the day, the tank commander had been given a map which showed the field of action. When the tank had come to the edge of the map, he brought it to a stop. Unaware of the terrain which lay ahead, he dared venture no further.

I cannot vouch for the authenticity of the story, but it is true to the attitude of some people. Their lives are confined by limited maps. Nothing will move them beyond the small area of land which is familiar to them. They have no spirit of adventure, no spirit or will to move forward into the unknown.

An acquaintance of mine is an ardent student of history. He loves to spend long winter nights reading of the accomplishments of the heroes of the past. But he himself has little of the hero in him, for he is unwilling to venture beyond the map which history has made crystal clear. He has no faith in the future, for he cannot with certainty mark the course of future events.

When I talk with him I am well informed concerning the achievements of the heroes of yesterday but I find him forever dampening my spirits when we speak of the possibilities of tomorrow. The map of his life and of his imagination is limited to that which belongs to "history."

Our lives ten years from now will in many ways be changed from life as we now know it. Twenty years will make a greater difference. Our grandchildren and our great-grandchildren will consider us to be old-fashioned. But whatever the future may hold "of marvel or surprise" of some things we may be certain. Truth will still be truth; love will be still measured by the giving and the receiving of affection; loyalty and patriotism and beauty and integrity will still be the distinguishing characteristics of good men. And God will still be God. Jesus Christ will be the same tomorrow as He was yesterday and today.

Faith in God and in His Son Christ Jesus cannot be changed with the passing years. And all God stands for and all Christ means in the lives of men will be unaltered by the hurried passing of the hours. That which is eternal in our nature will not change with the calendar years.

What will tomorrow hold for you? We cannot know. But the maps of our lives will have no edge if we move forward in the fervent trust that the God of our fathers will never neglect His sons.

Latest Atom Tests Surprised Scientists

WASHINGTON—Reading successive press and radio reports about the latest atomic boom-boom at Eniwetok March 1 and all the things that happened that apparently weren't supposed to happen—must affect all of us about the same way and provoke the same speculation, namely:

Maybe the scientists, themselves, don't know everything about the big hydrogen bombs.

If that is so, then we might expect other untoward and unpredictable results from future bigger tests.

What has already happened should be proof enough that we can build bigger and bigger bombs, big enough to destroy all of civilization, so that the human race finally should now have sense enough to sit down together somewhere and do something about controlling this destructive force.

The results of the March 1 explosion that leaked out gradually—the atomic illness of 23 Japanese fishermen who were about 80 miles away from the blast, the injury of 315 persons 100 miles away, the atomic poisoning of fish—all those had their impact upon our government, as upon other governments around the world, and brought their reactions. These included the President's statement that something must have happened this time that had not happened before and that the scientists must have been surprised themselves.

That seems to be confirmed in at least one scientific quarter — in the F.A.S. Newsletter, the publication of the Federation of American Scientists. In its most recent issue, it expresses uncertainty about what happened and what may happen in future bigger explosions and doubt about the ability to control increasingly bigger explosions. The publication says, among other things:

"Failure of political control of the atom has been a matter of chronic concern since Hiroshima. Information slowly emerging from behind the security curtain suggests that at least partial failure of physical control of explosions, long feared as a possible ultimate danger, has become of immediate practical concern and may have important political repercussions.

"Not emphasized in press accounts is the implicit warning in the 'incident' that current tests may be approaching orders of magnitude where close control not only becomes difficult, but effects in fact may become incalculable."

Uncertainty among scientists would seem to reinforce rising demands that our people be let in as much as possible on what is going on behind the atomic curtain, for only an informed public can help determine policy. What we should do becomes complicated because of our new emphasis on atomic weapons, Control or outlaw of atomic weapons would have its effect on our military policy.

The impasse between us and Russia over international control has hinged, and still does, on her insistence that atomic weapons be outlawed first before international control and inspection is established. We have insisted that international control must first be imposed with very rigid inspection, and after that reduction of atomic weapons and eventual outlaw.

But recent events indicate that the time surely is getting very near when some agreement must be reached. The recent awesome explosions have been accepted by some as assurance that no nation now would dare start an atomic war, as it would surely mean its destruction as well as that of its enemy, and so, too, the end of civilization.

That is an optimistic viewpoint, and with some sense.

The End of 'The Whip'

Ernie White walked up to the tall, thin body draped carelessly over the Cincinnati bench down in Tampa, sat down beside it and put his left arm against the body's right.

"I want you to have a look at the two rottenest arms in baseball," he said, grinning like a cat with a new parakeet in the house. "And they used to be two of the best."

Ewell Blackwell cracked a wan smile, but he didn't join in hilariously with the old St. Louis Cardinal pitcher from South Carolina. Old not by the years, maybe, for White is but 34. Still, it seems as long ago as covered wagons and Daniel Boone that he was helping pitch the Cards to the pennant, and then to a World Series victory over the Yankees.

Bisher

This would be 1942. It was the next year that he snapped a bone in his arm throwing against the Giants. For five years he tried to pitch, and every part of him was willing, except his arm. Finally, he surrendered and accepted a managerial billet in the minors. Today his readjustment is complete. He manages Columbia in the Sally League, a Cincinnati station, and he was here at the parent camp practicing the fine art of fungo hitting, chasing leg-heavy pitchers around the park and helping Birdie Tebbetts keep order around Plant Field.

But the Blackwell that sat beside him was a tragedy. Seven years ago this tall whip of a man was unbeatable, and the record shows that he went out 16 times in a row and won 16 times. This day, in the sun that baked the bench he once rode so majestically, he was defeated. Battered, broken, wistful, completely overwhelmed.

—A Package Store Uptown

The Yankees invited him to spring training across the bay at St. Petersburg this year. They'd picked him up for pennant insurance late in 1952, the deal that gave the Reds Jim Greengrass, plus $40,000 and some more human cargo since passed on.

That season Blackwell earned his keep with a sterling save now and then. Last year he was a total loss. Something, he said, went wrong in his arm.

"Every time I throw it hurts back here," and he lapped his long left arm around to a point on his right shoulder. "Yeah, I can throw as hard as I ever did, when I try it. But it hurts back here. It's a nerve, I guess. The doctors say there's no operation that will do anything for it. They told me last year complete rest might do it. That's why I came back to Tampa and laid out.

"When I went over to the Yankees this spring it was the same thing. It didn't seem like it made sense to keep after it any longer, so I quit. No, I haven't planned any further than that. I guess I'll just sit and wait."

"Sitting and waiting must be tough on a young guy 33 years old."

"Thirty-one," he requested, passively. "Yeah, but I got a package store uptown to keep me busy. I got to eat, so I won't be sitting much."

—Hartnett Sat Out a Pennant

It is said locally that Blackwell has not prepared himself quite handsomely for this emergency. You hear, in fact, that all he has to show for some lush years of major league living is that little package store and a home. This, I caution you, is strictly rumor.

White, on the other hand, never had a backlog to begin with. He worked for the Cardinals in the days of Sam Breadon peonage. His salary the year he won 17 games, that pennant year, was $4,500. When he suggested he should be raised to $8,000 the next season, he was met with cold steel silence, then wild expressions of horror, then ultimately a $500 raise.

"Blackie," said White, "made more in one season than I made the whole time I was in the majors."

Blackwell's top pay was $35,000, his price after the '47 season. That was his big harvest. He won his 16 in a row. He pitched a no-hitter against the Braves on June 18 and had two out in the eighth against Brooklyn, his next start before Eddie Stanky dribbled the first hit through his legs into short-field. Dixie Walker often said he'd never swung at any pitcher with a greater sense of futility than at Blackwell in his prime. And there the guy sat, more plump in the midsection now, but still lean and alone.

"It's all the mind," a fellow said. "The guy got an idea his arm was sore. He never got over it. I remember Gabby Hartnett when the Cubs won the pennant in '29. Zack Taylor and Johnny Schulte did all the catching while he sat on the bench. Said he had a sore arm, but the doctors never could find anything wrong. The next year he was back, good as ever. All in the mind."

"Maybe I'll try it later," Blackwell said. "Maybe it needs some more rest. I'll see. It's tough to give up."

Conley, Crone Blank Crax On One Hit in Poncey Bow

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Nat Peeples Gets Only Blow in 11-0 Rout; Two Clubs Play Again This Afternoon at 3

By JESSE OUTLAR

Gene Conley and Ray Crone, a pair of right-handers who have about convinced Manager Charlie Grimm that they belong with Milwaukee, tossed in a one-hitter as further proof Friday night as the Braves riveted Atlanta, 11-0.

A crowd of 6,920 turned out to welcome the Crackers home from Florida and saw Conley and Crone collaborate on a near-perfect game.

Nat Peeples, first Negro to play for the Crackers here, punched a single through the left side in the fourth. That started and ended Atlanta's display of power.

Only other Cracker to touch first was Al Facchini, who lived on Ed Mathews' error in the sixth. Neither of the two runners reached second.

Conley, 6-8 right-hander who bagged 23 wins at Toledo last season, traveled the first seven rounds in sensational style.

He chopped down the first four Crackers on strikes, added four more whiffs and didn't issue a walk. Crone, who had two trials with Atlanta and won 19 at Jacksonville in '53, faced only six men in the last two heats.

Ed Mathews, who rammed 32 homers for Atlanta in '50 and led the N.L. with 47 last year at Milwaukee, unloaded his first of the spring in the sixth. It was a wrong-field blast over the left-field fence off Leo Cristante with none on.

The Braves added only four other licks off Cristante, who bowed out with only a 2-0 deficit after the sixth. But they climbed on rookie Bob Trowbridge, who has yet to live up to glittering reputation, for eight safeties and nine runs in the last three innings.

Bill Ayers, making his first appearance at Poncey since he won 21 games here in '46, rescued Trowbridge in the ninth.

Warren Spahn, 23-game winner for Milwaukee last year and considered the best southpaw in the majors in most quarters, will hurl for the Braves Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. He'll be opposed by Bob Giggie, who won 10 for the Crackers, in the second of three exhibition games with the parent club.

Milwaukee assumed a 1-0 lead in the second when Facchini booted Johnny Logan's hopper and Paul Burris dropped a scoring double down the left-field line.

That was a sufficient working margin for Conley and Crone, and the Braves didn't damage Cristante again until Mathews homered in the sixth.

But they mixed a pair of walks and sacrifices with Bill Bruton's single and a two-run error by Jack Cerin for three scores in the next inning.

With two down in the eighth, Burris and Conley singled and Bruton doubled for a run and a 6-0 lead.

Nine Braves paraded to the plate in the ninth, and five of them returned with runs. Ayers extinguished the blaze, after uncorking a wild pitch, issuing a single to Crone and committing a balk.

Yanks Pound Bums For 8-4 Triumph

Newcombe, Black Racked By Extra-Base Assault

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—The New York Yankees unleashed an extra-base surge which smothered their World Series rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-4, today.

The Bombers exploded three homers, two doubles and two triples in an assault on Don Newcombe and Joe Black as a crowd of 7,702, largest of the spring in this city, looked on.

The victory was the second for the world champions in five meetings between the clubs. They meet three times more in Brooklyn and New York early next month.

Gil McDougald, Yogi Berra and Gene Woodling hit for the circuit. Joe Collins and Ed Robinson pounded three-baggers and Berra and Bob Cerv smote doubles.

Allie Reynolds, star Yankee right-hander whose labor will be in relief this year, hurled the final innings. He allowed only two singles and whiffed six. The lone run off him was unearned.

Nats Knock Bosox

SARASOTA, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Southpaw Bill Henry and right-hander Hal "Skinny" Brown proved soft pickings for Washington today as the Senators romped to a 10-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Boston's Bill Goodman was taken to Dr. Michael DiCosola for X-rays, which proved negative, after he had been hit on the left elbow by Frank Shea in the third inning. Goodman suffered only a bruise.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Veteran Jim Konstanty and rookie Paul Penson combined to stop the Detroit Tigers with five singles today and give the Philadelphia Phillies an easy 6-2 victory.

Konstanty, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1950, worked the first six innings, allowing only four singles. Penson yielded only one hit through the final three innings.

Bell Clouts Winner

TAMPA, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Outfielder Gus Bell of Cincinnati hit an eighth-inning two-run homer to give the Reds a 3-2 win over the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Bell's big blow was off Memo Luna, the $100,000 Mexican who compiled a 22-10 record for San Diego last season. Rudy Minarcin, former Buffalo pitcher, got credit for the win although the Cards scored their runs off him in the top of the eighth. Rookie Wally Moon singled in the two Cardinal tallies.

Georgia's Patterson Third in NCAA 50

Cleveland Wins in 22.3; Stolz, Harris Miss in Trials

Special to The Atlanta Constitution

SYRACUSE, N.Y., March 26—Ohio State's Dick Cleveland, leading all the way, won the NCAA 50-yard freestyle here Friday night, shading the defending titleholder Michigan's Don Hill and Georgia's Reid Patterson in a stirring finish.

Five of the six finalists broke 23 seconds, comprising the fastest field in the history of the 50-yard sprint.

Cleveland, who has a 21.9 timing up for world record approval, won in 22.3 seconds, followed by Hill at 22.6, Patterson at 22.7, Northwestern's Kuhn at 22.8, Yale's Donovan at 22.9, and Iowa's Pennington at 23.1.

Patterson, who failed to place in the NCAA 50 last year, will defend his NCAA 100-yard freestyle title Saturday, with Cleveland, the world's record holder in this event, again his main rival. Last year Patterson nipped both Cleveland and Hill in the 100.

Georgia's Hal Stolz and Emory's Henry Harris failed to qualify for the 200-yard breaststroke finals. Harris was clocked in 2:24.5 second—ninth best time of the trials—but officials disqualified him for using the illegal fish tail kick. Stolz was clocked at 2:27.1, 11th best time.

Florida's Ted Robinson, SEC champion, also failed to qualify, being clocked at 2:28.8.

50 Free Style—1, Dick Cleveland, Ohio State; 2, Don Hill, Michigan; 3, Reid Patterson, Georgia; 4, Al Kuhn, Northwestern; 5, Kerry Donovan, Yale; 6, Dick Pennington, Iowa. Time—22.3 seconds.

Babe Zaharias Scores 71 For Spartanburg Lead

Even Par Score Three Strokes Better Than Suggs and Bauer

SPARTANBURG, S .C., March 26 (AP)—Babe Zaharias gave the younger pros and amateurs a lesson in golf here today with a par 71 that was good for a three-stroke lead in the first round of the second annual Peach Blossom-Betsy Rawls tournament.

The Babe was three strokes ahead of defending champion Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., and Marlene Bauer of Sarasota, Fla.

Betty McKinnon of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., shared fourth place with the 19-year-old amateur sensation, Joyce Ziske, each with 75s.

Miss Ziske, the Waterford, Wis., teen-ager who upset Mary Lena Faulk, national champ, in the finals of the North and South Women's Amateur at Pinehurst, N.C., posted the best score among the amateurs.

Miss Faulk, of Thomasville, Ga., was out of the top 20 with an 82.

Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay; Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kans.; Betty Hicks of Durham, N.C.; Jackie Pung of Glasgow, Ky., and Alice Bauer Hagge of Sarasota, Fla., were bunched in sixth place with 76s.

Spartanburg's Betsy Rawls, for whom the tournament is named, had her troubles. The National Open champion had a 77 along with Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., Betty Dodd and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., Peggy Kirk Bell of Pine Needles, N.C., and amateur Gloria Armstrong of Oakland, Calif.

A MAN FROM MILWAUKEE COMES BACK

Mathews Warns Dodgers Braves Aren't Conceding Flag

"It won't be a one-hoss race in the National League this year," a baseball visitor said Friday while loafing in front of a drugstore at the corner of Luckie and Forsyth.

Naturally, a man with such views came from Milwaukee, for that's about the only spot on the N. L. map where the Brooklyn Dodgers haven't been crowned 1954 champs.

Fellow talking was Edwin Lee Mathews Jr., one of the more prominent Milwaukee citizens, who is in town with the Braves for three exhibition games with the Atlanta Crackers.

Mathews speaks with authority—at least to pitchers—and he thinks the Braves are capable of nailing the highly-favored Brooks.

"I'm not predicting any pennant for the Braves," Mathews said, "but our club isn't conceding to the Dodgers. And I think the Cardinals and Phillies may surprise some of the experts.

"We finished second last year, and we're a much better club this time, which leaves us only one more step to climb," he continued. "Losing Bobby Thomson hurt us, but even without him we're better. Chet Nichols, who had the best ERA in the league in 1951, is back from the service; Danny O'Connell will help our infield, and we're all a year older."

So much for the Braves. What about Mathews? Mathews, who in two seasons as a major leaguer, has become one of the biggest names in baseball. The guy, who hit 47 homers as a sophomore last season, is the player who may break Babe Ruth's magic 60 mark.

"Well, I've missed several spring games due to injuries. First my back, then my knee and leg, but I'm ready now. I just want to get in lots of running .

"No, I won't make any kind of prediction about Ruth's record," he said in answer to the question he hears everywhere. "I don't think much about it. I'll just keep swinging, and we'll find out."

What about that talk last winter of his moving to the outfield?

"That was just something for them to talk about," he said. "I'm happy at third base, but if Charlie (Grimm) wanted me to try the outfield I wouldn't object. I just want to play; the position doesn't matter too much."

Mathews said that he saw Art Fowler, his old roommate on the 1950 Atlanta pennant team, the other day when the Braves played Cincinnati.

"I'm pulling for him to stick," Ed said. "He's a good pitcher, a pitcher with major league stuff."

Speaking of the '50 pennant team, Mathews hasn't changed much himself from the 18-year-old kid who hammered 32 homers for Atlanta's last pennant edition.

He's a much better ballplayer, of course, and you wouldn't recognize him at third base. He ranks at the top as a box office attraction, and you see his name on the various products that stars endorse.

That's one of the swell things about Mathews. His fame has spread, his bankroll has swelled, but his head's still the same size.

Hawes Shines In 13-5 Win

OCALA, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Several players have become stars by switching from one position to another and Roy Hawes, Chattanooga's 1953 first baseman, is making a strong bid to turn the trick.

He sparked Chattanooga to a 13-5 victory over Birmingham today with a three-run homer and a single, raising his spring average to .378. It was his third home run and he now has nine RBI's.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Left-handers Jerry Dean and Eddie March of the Little Rock Travelers blanked Buffalo, 2-0, here for the Southern Assn. club's fourth straight victory. Dean held the bisons to one hit in five innings, with March allowing five hits the rest of the way.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla.—The Memphis Chicks, riding a four-game Grapefruit League winning streak, tangle with the American Association's Charleston, W. Va. Senators at nearby Fort Lauderdale tomorrow. The Chicks ran through routine practice sessions today. Their spring training ends next week. The Southern Assn. season opens April 9.

Scholz Whips Al Andrews

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Undefeated Gustav (Bubi) Scholz of Germany got his American campaign off to a winning start tonight by scoring a unanimous 10-round decision over Al Andrews of Superior Wis., at Madison Square Garden. Scholz, a 1-3 favorite, weighed 156½, Andrews 155¼.

The 23-year-old Berliner, cut under the left eye in the second round, showed he had plenty of power and that he could take it.

He dropped the 23-year-old ex-GI with a smashing left in the fifth round. Andrews jumped up at one, but had to take the mandatory eight count.

The votes, all for Scholz, were: Judge Jack Gordon and Referee Harry Kessler, 6-3-1 each; and Judge Harold Barnes, 7-2-1. The Associated Press had Scholz ahead, 6-3-1.

Early Bird Hogan Already at Augusta

Wheels Into Preparations For Masters Start April 8

By BERT PRATHER

Ben Hogan, the mighty little Texan who is hoping to become the first player in the history of the Masters golf tournamen to successfully defend the title, isn't going to miss out on the honor by lack of pretournament preparation.

The little man from Fort Worth checked in at Augusta Thursday night and was out on the practice tee at famed Augusta National Golf Club Friday. Before the 18th staging of this classic gets under way April 8, Hogan will have surveyed every nook and cranny of the 6,800-yard National layout. Ben knows it like a book, but he finds that "refresher" courses pay off.

Then, too, Ben has not buckled down for a major effort since his great victory in last year's British Open championship. He probably feels he's a bit "rusty" and there is no place like the peace and quiet of beautiful Augusta National to work on one's game.

The Masters, U.S. Open, and British champ will have the course to himself insofar as fellow competitors are concerned, until Monday when young Gene Littler, of San Diego and Palm Springs, Calif., arrives from Florida.

Hogan served as professional at Tamarisk Club, Palm Springs, Calif., during the winter and since has been busy organizing his golf equipment company, which will operate in Fort Worth. His only competitive starts since the British where in the Thunderbolt Invitational, Palm Springs, and Seminole Pro-Am at Palm Beach, Fla., neither major enough to call for an all-out effort such as the Masters.

BEN HOGAN
First on Scene

Hogan came to Augusta early last year and then went on to smash the tournament record by five strokes with a sensational 274 for the 72 holes. A poll of the leading writers who annually cover the Masters have established him as outstanding favorite, but Ben never under-estimates his competition, so from now until he tees off April 8, it will be work, work, work.

Littler, the '53 National amateur champion now playing as a professional, is probably taking a leaf out of Hogan's book by arriving early. Gene has been heralded as one of the most promising youngsters to join the tour since Cary Middlecoff and his play at Augusta will be followed closely by America's most discerning golf galleries.

Most of the professionals are now playing in the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N.C., and will move from there to Greensboro, N.C., for the Greater Greensboro Open April 2-4. They will then make a dash for Augusta and three days of practice before those National greens are shined up and the blue chips placed on the table.

VERNE GAGNE, MILDRED BURKE SCORE IMPRESSIVE VICTORIES

Verne Gagne of TV wrestling fame, and Mildred Burke, women's wrestling champion, scored impressive victories in the co-features of Promoter Paul Jones' mat program at Municipal Auditorium Friday night.

A capacity crowd saw Gagne, the former Minnesota football star, whip towering Sky-Hi Lee in 28 minutes with the claw hold.

Burke, who has not lost a match in more years than she can remember, pinned Bonnie Watson in 23 minutes.

In an Australian tag team match, the Kettle brothers, Don and Dick, whipped Don McIntyre and Lucky Gilpen after 16 minutes of action. Dr. Lee Grable trimmed Prince Omar in the fourth match on the card.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Double Speed Goes At Laurel Today

Condensed From Constitution Wire Reports

Jockey Pete Moreno and Double Speed, making his first start since Sept. 5, will be shooting for a favorite's role in the Kentucky Derby with a victory in the Cherry Blossom Stakes Saturday at Laurel Park.

Moreno, whose brother Henry was robbed of a choice Derby mount when Turn-to turned up injured this week, will try to guide the speed merchant to its 11th straight victory. Double Speed won all of its 10 starts in 1953.

Owner John Hertz has never seen his horse go under pressure. All victories have been by at least three lengths.

Timely Tip is the favorite in the Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn. Roaming, top-weighted at 120, is the betting choice at Gulfstream. Porterhouse, the new Kentucky Derby favorite, has come down with a bruised foot but trainer Charles Whittingham doesn't think that it will affect the horse's training for the Louisville classic.

RACING RESULTS: Real Brother won the feature at Gulfstream ahead of Close Support and Elliott L. . . . Flashy Ways paid $7.20 as winner of the Oaklawn feature. Paris Fleet was second and Val Vez finished third. . . . Lap Full won the Bay Meadows run over Hug Me Tight and Khalati. . . . Saucy, a retired racehorse owned by 140 of the country's sports writers, became a mother.

MISCELLANY—Wes Santee will be out to better the 11-lap board track record for the mile in the Chicago Daily News Relays Saturday night. . . . Art Larsen trimmed Hal Burrows in the Good Neighbor tennis championships at Miami Beach, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3. Larsen will play the Garnar Mulloy-Vic Seixas winner in the finals. . . . Lou Brissie, former Philadelphia Athletics and Cleveland Indians pitcher and graduate of the Legion's program, has been named commissioner of the American Legion Junior Baseball program. . . . Cleveland has cut utility infielder Owen Friend from the Tribe roster. . . . Coneyburrow was a 7-1 choice to win the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree, England. . . . Syracuse and Minneapolis can wrap up the semifinal playoffs in the National Basketball Assn. with victories over Boston and Rochester.

Wake Forest's Palmer Leads Azalea With 65

Jimmy Turnesa in Second One Behind Coast Guard Vet

WILMINGTON, N.C., March 26 (AP)—Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., who recently returned to Wake Forest College after a Coast Guard hitch, whipped par by seven strokes today to take a one-stroke lead in the opening round of the $10,000 Azalea Open golf tournament.

The 24-year-old Palmer opened with four birdies as he turned in a 33-32—65 card over the 6,652-yard Cape Fear Country Club course to lead Jimmy Turnesa, former PGA champion from Briarcliff, N.Y., by one stroke. Turnesa carded a steady 34-32—66 with six birdies and a dozen pars.

Tied with 67, two strokes behind Palmer, were his playing companions, professionals Bob Toski, the 127-pounder from Livingston, N.J., and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y.; Jackie Burke, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., and Marty Furgol, Lamont, Ill.

Tied for seventh place at 68 were Mike Souchak, Mamaroneck, N.Y.; Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., former winner here; Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., and Paul McGuire, Kansas City, Missouri.

Souchak, former Duke University football player, had four birdies, an eagle and two bogies going out to turn in 32, but coming back could do no better than par. Faulty chipping and a three-putt green hurt his round. Palmer, who was 1950 Southern Intercollegiate champion, twice led National Intercollegiate qualifiers with medal winning 36-hole performances in 1949 and 1950 before going into service. Although he played well in all departments today, his putter was his best friend.

SMITH OGLES FLAG AS ADAIR, SHADIX LOOM AS TOP STARS

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Frank Erwin, coach of Smith High's baseball Smithies, won't even whisper the word "pennant." Other City League mentors won't say "pennant" without mentioning Smith High.

The name that throws fear into foes of the Hill Streeters, who open their 1954 campaign Tuesday at Grant Park against Harry Carroll's Gradyites, is Gilbert Adair.

Adair, the fabulous all-round athletic star who a year ago hit close to .500, figures to be one of the loop's most capable southpaw flingers this trip. And, needless to say, he will toil elsewhere—in the outfield or at first base—when not on the hill.

The Smithies, who had a 6-6 won-lost chart in 1953, have only 12 players on a varsity squad that has that "good pitch, good field, fair hit" look. Virtually every player is a seasoned performer as only catcher Harold Reese and outfielders Louis Partain and Calvin Appling were lost from the 1953 cast.

The Erwinites were substantially bolstered this week when Jimmy Rogers, 1953 third sacker, came out for the team and promptly was converted into a catcher to fill the yawning gap left by graduation of Reese. Not much conversion was necessary. Rogers has donned mitt and mask before.

That sent long-ball hitting Bobby Keanum happily scurrying back to his old first base love.

HURLER-FIELDER-FIRST BASEMAN HAS CHOICE
Coach Erwin (R) Offers Mitt, Glove to Gilbert Adair

Claude Shadix, whom Erwin regards as one of the finest all-round shortstops he has seen; second baseman Morris Vaughn, and third sacker Bobby Lockridge, who will see some mound action also, round out a solid infield.

Jack Cotton and Robert Adams, who like Lockridge and Adair have the versatility to play several positions, are in the hot corner battle, too.

Donald Ford, drag bunt artist with mercury in his heels, will be in leftfield. Kenneth Warren will face the barrier in center and Ray Cronic in right.

Billy Hall, a right-hander who shows promise of developing into one of the city's outstanding hurlers, will do most of the flinging not handled by Adair. He's a switch hitter, and Adair, Ford and Adams lash from the port side.

Adair, the diminutive Shadix and Keanum are those who carry most authority to the plate with their bats, and if they get enough stick help the Smithies should finish near the top of the heap.

Langley, Blakely Give Trojans Tank Edge

By LARRY FOX

The Georgia High School Association's annual swimming meet will be held at Emory Saturday with Athens High School's boys and Decatur's girls favored to splash off with team honors.

Decatur is the defending girls' champion, has two individual titlists and a host of other top-flight stars entered in the meet.

Athens finished second to Georgia Military Academy last year, but the Cadets from College Park won't have anyone entered this time out. With two defending champions returning—Bobby Langley in the breaststroke and Tommy Blakely in the backstroke—Athens shouldn't have too much trouble.

Decatur's defending titlists are Jo Holland in the breaststroke and Elaine Fladger in the backstroke. Carol Langley of Northside will defend her individual medley crown and also compete in the 100-yard freestyle.

A total of 143 entries—72 girls and 71 boys—will compete in the 34 trial heats that start at 10 Saturday morning. Diving trials and finals will begin at 1 p.m. with swimming finals at 4. Twelve schools have girls' teams entered with 11 sending boys' entries.

Some other top entries in the meet will be Martha Tovell of Southwest, Beverly Bank of Savannah, Margie Erickson of Decatur, Sandy Weller of Druid Hills (the Southeastern 200-yard freestyle champ), Sandra Benton of North Fulton and Sherry Gabrielsen of Athens. Two threats in the boys' division are Bobby McDonough and Bucky Hiles of Druid Hills.

Three Auburn Aces Defend Relays Title

Bulldogs, Jackets Also Go In Florida Classic Today

By EDWIN POPE

Four hundred and fifty of Dixie's best trackmen, including 37 from Auburn, Georgia and Georgia Tech, grapple for the 11th annual Florida Relays championship at Gainesville today.

Dean Wilbur Hutsell's Plainsmen will show up with three defending champions and 13 other toughies. But strong, swift arrays from Alabama, Duke, Tennessee and Maryland make Auburn a tremulous favorite at best.

HUGH TANNEHILL
Runs at Gainesville

Auburn headliners are 100-yard sprinter Jackie Creel, high-hurdler Billy Fickling of Macon, and shot-putter and discus-thrower Jim Dillion. Little Creel's big battle will be with North Carolina's Jeff Newton. Fickling's No. 1 foe is Duke's versatile Joel Shankle. No one will push Dillion in the discus but he will get a shot-put shakedown from Duke's Emmett Tawshe.

Vereen is the hottest shot on Norris Dean's 13-man contingent. The 18-year-old, 231-pound giant will fling the discus for the first time in college competition. He cannot challenge Dillion yet but already ranks as the finest freshman discus-jockey in Jacket history.

Capt. Hugh Tannehill, relay, and sophomore hurdler and high-jumper Frank Rust of Thomasville also are Jacket point threats.

Capt. Kermit Perry, Cedartown dashman, leads Spec Towns' Bulldogs. Football halfback Charley Harris, a sophomore, will make an interesting debut in the 100. Sophomores Bob Davis of Rome and Gerald Owens of Lithonia are dark horses in the high jump and sprints.

Duke's Shankle promises to be the outstanding individual. He competes in and usually wins both hurdle events, broad jump and high jump, also makes occasional sallies in the pole vault and spring medley relay.

Other team entries are Miami, Ohio State, Loyola of the South, Florida and Florida State.

Baylor of Chattanooga and Waynesboro, Va., High provide leading prep participants. Baylor's Ellis Goodloe shoots to bust his 9.7 low in the century. Waynesboro's Winfield Willis is National Scholastic indoor champ in the shot put.

'Too-Casual' LaStarza Jolts Mates

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—British sports writers today criticized the training methods of Roland LaStarza and the Bronx heavyweight answered back with his best gym workout since he came to London.

LaStarza fights Don Cockell of London here Tuesday night in the 18,000-seat Earls Court Arena.

Geoff Simpson of the Daily Mail, one of Britain's most respected boxing writers, said only one thing can justify LaStarza's "casual approach—victry over Cockell."

"All this could be a big bluff," Simpson wrote, "or a trap for Cockell, though for the life of me I cannot see how such strategy is going to profit LaStarza. How does a fighter benefit by soft-pedalling his training at a time when it should be at its most intensive?"

Today LaStarza hustled through a stiff workout against Eddie Hearn, shooting machine gun lefts to the head and rocking the former British Amateur champ with hard rights to the body.

Salter Snares Three Firsts In Southern Relays Qualifying

Tiger Teams Win in Three

By JIMMY MANN

Northside relay teams and versatile Billy Salter of O'Keefe paced final qualifying for next week's Southern Relays in Birmingham at Cheney Stadium Friday afternoon.

The flying Tigers from Northside placed in three of the five relay meets. The Tiger team of Jerry Wright, Paul Knox, Dwight Horton and Lester Simerville took first place in the mile run.

Northsiders gained second place in the 880 and were third in the fast 440. The three top finishers in each event go to Birmingham.

Salter extended his shot put record for Cheney Stadium with a throw of 48' 3¼". The Irish ace also took the discus throw with a 153' 3" heave to go along with his high jump record set in the Thursday finals. He was the only man in the meet to capture more than one first place.

Tightest duel of the day saw R. K. Brown of Northside snip the string with less than an inch to spare over hard-charging Pete Calhoun of North Fulton in the 120-yard high hurdles. Brown's 15.5 time established a new mark by half a second for the Cheney cinders. Northside's Wright thundered home third.

Larry Rudin, who gave fair warning in the Thursday time trials, won a clear cut victory over Dickie Duncan of O'Keefe and Dillon Johnston of North Fulton in the 100. The Fulton flash covered the stretch in 10.6.

Grady's sprint medley relay team got its chance for the finals on the fleet legs of distance star Everett Whatley Thursday. And Whatley again proved he was far too good for the long range boys as he grabbed the baton, trailing by some 60 yards, and set sail on his half-mile gallop. He caught everybody at the quarter post and finished 25 yards ahead of O'Keefe and Roosevelt anchor men.

Sylvan can thank the courageous finish of Brownie Thurman for its No. 3 spot in the mile relay. Thurman got the stick in fifth position, 35 yards out of third place, narrowed it to 15 yards in the stretch and kicked home hard to get his school in the Alabama meet.

Phil Alexander, Bass coach, watched his fleet four finish second to Fulton in the 440 relay and then was able to enter the same quartet in the relay restricted to football players. They won it. Alexander's 440 team all played football, they are Phil Heisler, Buddy Mayfield, Bobby Dowdy and Hugh Gatlin.

Paul Susce Four-Hits Bulldogs for Plainsmen

Soph Righty Fans 11 as Auburn Wins Southeastern Opener, 4-2

Special to The Constitution

AUBURN, March 26—Auburn's Plainsmen opened their Southeastern Conference baseball season today with a 4-2 victory over Georgia's defending champions behind sophomore Paul Susce's four-hit pitching.

Susce, right-handed fireballer, struck out 11 as he posted his third win of the new campaign. He had a shutout until the ninth when pinch-hitter Rip Darden's bases-loaded single brought both Bulldog runs in.

Auburn managed but four hits off Jimmy Harper, the Bulldog starter and loser, and Leon Houston, who relieved him in the fifth, but two of the four came off the bat of Jim Pyburn and drove in three big runs.

Pyburn tripled in the third with two on, then scored on Howell Tubbs' infield bingle. In the fifth Pyburn's single to left chased L. F. Lanier home with the last Auburn run.

Before the ninth, Georgia had Susce in trouble only once. The Bulldogs loaded the bases in the fifth on errors by Pyburn and Susce and a base on balls, but Susce struck out Harry White to kill the threat.

In the Bulldog ninth after one was out, a walk to Jim Wilder, error by Joe Davis on Harold Cook's grounder and a single by Jim Farris loaded the bases. Darden's single to right-center sent Wilder and Cook home. But Farris was out trying to make third base on the hit and White grounded out to end the game.

It was Georgia's second SEC defeat after one victory.

The teams play again here Saturday.

AKC Schedules Pre-Show Class For Owners

The Atlanta Kennel Club will hold a training class Sunday for owners planning to show their dogs in the 48th All-Breed Show next month.

The free class will be held at 3 p.m. in the horse arena at Adams Park, with Bill White, Bo Carroll, Leo Shelver and Pat Norwood serving as instructors. Further information can be obtained from White at RA. 4055.

Entries for the dog show close April 3.

Fans To Help Rams Ready Park Today

AUGUSTA, March 26 (AP)—Several hundred volunteer workers are expected to aid the Augusta baseball club stage an old-fashioned spring housecleaning at Jennings Stadium tomorrow.

Jack Connell, president of the Augusta Rams and originator of the "Operation Grandstand" idea, said he expected everyone from Mayor Hugh Hamilton on down to come out and pitch in with the chores.

The project, born of necessity, is one horn of a three-pronged campaign on the part of the Rams' management to put Jennings Stadium in shape for the South Atlantic League season. Two other projects have already been completed with city funds. One was the paving of a street leading to the parking area, and the other was a change in the outmoded electrical system at the park.

"Operation Grandstand" is not quite as imposing a project as it was when it was first announced. Skilled volunteer workers have already attended to most of the jobs.

Tomorrow's big task will be the sanding and painting of some 900 box seats.

Motley Signs

CLEVELAND, March 26 (AP)—Veteran fullback Marion Motley and Walt Klevay, a rookie back from Ohio State, signed pro football contracts today with the Cleveland Browns. Salary terms were not made public.

Auburn Ace David Pinned

NORMAN, Okla., March 26 (AP)—Two-time winner Hugh Peery emphasized his intentions to pick up another crown tonight as the 150-pound Pittsburgh grappler pinned his second straight opponent to gain tomorrow's semifinals in the NCAA wrestling tournament.

Peery scored a fall over Robert David of Auburn in four minutes flat in the opening of the quarter-final round of the 24th annual meet.

David, the Southeastern Conference champion at 123 pounds, had a record of eight victories and no setbacks this season.

Two other Auburn wrestlers bowed out in matches today; 157-pounder Dick Downey was decisioned, 3-0, by Ken Greenhalge of Colorado State and 137-pounder Ray Downey was thumped by George Matthews of Pitt, 9-0.

McCauley Stays Hot But Gators Slug Tech

GAINESVILLE, Fla., March 26 (AP)—The University of Florida's hard-hitting baseballers smothered Georgia Tech under base hits today and took a Southeastern Conference victory 16-5.

Florida pitcher Rudy Simpson went the distance, allowing six hits and fanning six while walking two. A seven-run Florida spree against Tech loser Dave Redford in the second inning settled the game.

Second baseman Barry Horenbein led Florida with a single, double and home run.

Tech catcher Toppy Vann doubled and singled. Outfielder Bobby McCauley singled twice to run his streak to eight hits in 11 at-bats.

Three Teams Share Lead in Pro-Am Play

Three foursomes carded 14-under-par 56s to share in the prize list of the Atlanta PGA-sponsored pro-am at Ansley Golf Club.

The three teams were composed of W. V. Moore, O. B. Turner, Frank Brumby and pro Pete Cole of Piedmont Golf course; Howard Brown, George Montague, Skeet Kinney and unattached pro Luke Morris; Harry Scott, Dexter Allen, Fred Bannon and pro Frank Springer, golf equipment salesman.

Due to lack of professionals, Charlie Brumby of Ansley was designated as a pro on his all-amateur team and wound up winner of the pro-pro prize with Charlie Miller of Druid Hills Golf Club.

Chuck Wright and Charlie Miller posted low individual rounds of 69, one under par.

Candler Park Drills

The Candler Park nine, which will again play in a Sunday league of the Atlanta Amateur Baseball Federation, will practice Sunday at 2 p.m. at Candler Park, it is announced by Manager Jensen Kelley.

JUST LIGHT JABS—NEW YORK, March 26—Kid Gavilan and Bobo Olson are charging each other with stetoscopes during their weigh-in for their April 2 fight for the world middleweight championship. Olson won the title over Randy Turpin last year and Gavilan is confident of taking it away from him. Dr. John H. Pribble watches the Cuban Keed and ex-Hawaiian bouncer kid around.

Shooters Aim At Fat Prize

Expert marksmen will be able to bring home the bacon Saturday and Sunday at Capitol Gun Club.

Club Manager Bob Autrey plans to give away a pound of bacon to various winners during the regular weekend competition. He has 25 pounds on hand and will get more if the turnout warrants.

He has inaugurated a 10-target event for those who do not want to compete in the regular trap and skeet events. The Jack Tway Memorial trophy will be up for competition in the 50 bird handicap skeet. A shooter must win three legs on this trophy for permanent possession.

IN OUR CHURCHES: Glenn Alcohol Studies School To Hear Dr. King

Englishman To Address Methodists

Dr. Edward McLellan, one of England's best known Methodist clergymen, will begin a three-month visit here Thursday as the guest of Bishop and Mrs. Arthur J. Moore.

Dr. McLellan will be guest preacher at both the North and South Georgia Methodist conferences. The North Georgia Conference will be held at Wesley Memorial Church here June 21-25 and the South Georgia Conference will be held at Epworth-by-the-Sea June 7-11.

He will give a series of lectures at the Candler School of Theology, Emory University, April 13-15 and at Martha Brown Methodist Church the evenings of April 14-16.

Dr. McLellan also will speak at Methodist meetings in the following towns: Valdosta, Jesup, Waycross, Monroe, Macon, Warm Springs, Newnan and LaGrange.

Methodists Slate School Workers Session Monday

The second quarterly meeting of the Methodist Institute for Church School Workers will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at St. Mark Methodist Church. All church school workers in the metropolitan Atlanta area are invited to attend.

Charles H. Robeson is superintendent of the school. Divisional superintendents are Mrs. Albert S. Hatcher, Children's Division; Harold Bowen, Youth Division, and Mrs. M. C. Pittard, Adult Division.

Others to participate include Miss Margaret Lander, Mrs. Henry Mansfield, Mrs. E. H. LeVert Jr., Mrs. W. C. Arnold, Mrs. O. C. Dobbs, Mrs. H. D. Campbell, Miss Sadie Williams, Mrs. V. R. Fitch, Mrs. R. D. Benfield, Miss Jean Buchanan, Mrs. Henry Wagnon, Mrs. J. L. deJarnette, Mrs. Charles Robeson, the Rev. Sanford Brown, James A. Mackey, and Miss Margaret Rivers.

Dr. Charles L. Allen writes in his column on Page 4 of the constancy of truth. Many things in life may change but truth remains unchanged by the centuries, according to Dr. Allen.

Dr. Albion King, professor of ethics at Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, will be the principal speaker at a statewide school of alcohol studies at Glenn Memorial Methodist Church April 2-4. The school will be sponsored by the North and South Georgia Methodist Youth Fellowships.

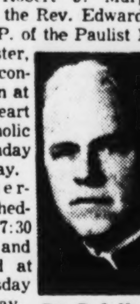
Kempton Haynes Jr. of Atlanta is chairman of the school. Tommy Langston, Decatur, is registrar.

Dr. King received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Southern California. He is the author of "The Problem of Evil," "The Psychology of Drunkenness" and "Basic Information on Alcohol."

Workshop sessions will be directed by Aubrey Speer, former director of the youth department of the National Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church. Some 200 young people are expected to attend.

Mission Services

The Rev. Robert J. Murphy, C. S. P., and the Rev. Edward A. Maher, C. S. P. of the Paulist Mission, Winchester, Tenn., will conduct a mission at Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church Sunday through Friday.



Rev. R. J. Murphy

Mission sermons are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday, and at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Friday.

The two priests will lead short instruction programs after the church's morning Masses and will speak to students of Sacred Heart High School and Marist College at 2 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday.

The public is invited to all the services.

Wedding Pageant

The Dramatic Club of the Youth Division of Brookhaven Methodist Church will present a wedding pageant at the 7:30 p.m. service Sunday. The Rev. E. M. Wise, church pastor, will speak on "The True Meaning of Marriage" and all married couples in the congregation will be given an opportunity to renew their marriage vows.

Revival at Decatur

Dr. Charles Forbes Taylor and the Rev. Laurie Forbes Taylor will conduct a "Spiritual Victory Crusade" at Decatur First Baptist Church April 4-19.

Dr. Charles Taylor will preach the sermons and lead the singing. The Rev. Laurie Taylor will play the piano. Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. nightly except Saturday.

Born in England in 1899, Dr. Charles Taylor has been a gospel singer since he was five years old, and a preacher since he was nine. The brothers have conducted evangelistic campaigns in 5,000 churches in the U.S., Canada and England.

Cake Rites for Lent

One of the oldest traditions in the Episcopal Church is the blessing and distributing of a special cake, called a simnel cake, on the middle Sunday in Lent. This Sunday D. William Durden Jr., lay vicar of Holy Comforter Episcopal Church, will preside at a Simnel Sunday service at 11 a.m.

The cake, baked especially for the service, will be placed on the altar and blessed, and then cut into portions and distributed among members of the congregation to be eaten at Sunday dinner.

Donor Dinner

The fifth annual Donor Dinner of the Beth Jacob Jewish Congregation, to be sponsored by the Beth Jacob Sisterhood, will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the synagogue. Mrs. Sadie Katz is chairman of the program.

Quintette at Kirk

The Eppley Sisters Gospel Quintette of York, Pa., will sing at Wee Kirk Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m. April 4. The sisters also will play selections on the piano, vibra-harp, violin, electric Hawaiian guitar, saxophone, accordion, cathedral chimes, trumpet and organ.

Rev. Myers on Air

At 8 p.m. Friday the Rev. Cecil Myers, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, will broadcast a special devotional service over WGST radio.

In preparation for the church's revival April 4-8, members of the church will gather in groups at the homes of 15 members and listen to the program. After the broadcast, they will hold cottage prayer meetings.

Morningside Revival

Dr. Gilbert Lee Guffin, president of Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa., will lead revival services at Morningside Baptist Church Sunday through April 4.

Services are scheduled at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sundays, at 7:30 p.m. Monday, at 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

A native of Georgia, Dr. Guffin is a graduate of Mercer University and Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has served pastorates in Alabama and New Jersey.

George Crawford will lead the singing for the revival. He will be assisted by Mrs. Bernard Threatte, minister of music at Morningside Church.

Smyrna Dedication

The new sanctuary of Fellowship Baptist Church on Plant Atkinson road, Smyrna, will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Frank Garrison, assistant executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, will speak at the dedication service.

The new sanctuary is valued at about $60,000 and seats 450. A balcony and steeple still are to be added. The church has 430 members.

The dedication service will be the first service in a spring revival to last through April 9. Dr. Griffin Henderson, pastor of Marietta First Baptist Church, will be evangelist for the revival. Raymond Berry will lead the singing.

To Hear Pannell

The Men's Brotherhood of Northside Drive Baptist Church will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Peacock Alley. Charles Pannell, chairman of the Pardon and Parole Board of the State of Georgia, will be guest speaker.

Wesley Finance Clinic

A church finance clinic, the first of a series of such clinics to be held in Methodist churches in the Southeast, will be held at Wesley Memorial Methodist Church at 10 a.m. April 5.

Some 150 ministers and laymen from three districts are expected to attend, according to Dr. Nat G. Long, clinic chairman.

H. P. Demand, president of H. P. Demand Associates, Chicago, Ill., will be guest speaker at the clinic.

Ormewood Revival

Dr. Harry K. Holland, pastor of Marietta First Presbyterian Church, will lead revival services at Ormewood Park Presbyterian Church Sunday through Friday. Services will be held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Dr. Harry K. Holland

Dr. Holland is moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Georgia.

Ted Kress of Marietta will lead the singing for the revival.

Dr. Meigs To Speak

Dr. Paul A. Meigs, former pastor of Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church, East Point and Central Baptist Church, Atlanta, will speak at the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services of Perkerson Park Baptist Church Sunday at the Perkerson Park Elementary School.

Dr. Meigs is now pastor of a Baptist church in Berkeley, Calif.

Revival at Tucker

Dr. James P. Pressly, pastor of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, Due West, S.C. will be guest speaker at a series of special evangelistic services at the Tucker Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m. Thursday through April 4.

Dr. Pressly is the father of the Rev. Frank Y. Pressly who is serving as stated supply pastor of the Tucker Church while on a year's furlough from the mission field in Pakistan.

Dr. Gill To Speak

Dr. Everett Gill Jr., secretary of Foreign Missions for Latin America of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, will speak at 10:50 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Baptist Tabernacle.

Dr. Paul James, Tabernacle pastor, is conducting a revival at LaGrange First Baptist Church.

Hunton at Mt. Gilead

The Rev. W. M. Hunton, former president of the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, will preach at Mt. Gilead Methodist Church at 7 p.m. Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Hunton, now retired, is a teacher of the Men's Bible Class at Tenth Street Methodist Church. He was for seven years pastor of Mt. Gilead and Owl Rock churches.

Study for Revival

The training unions of Newton Estates Baptist Church have scheduled a week of study Monday through Thursday in preparation for the church's revival the following week.

Study programs will be held at the church from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. each night. Teachers for the study course include Mrs. B. K. Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Dodd and Mrs. Rufus S. Monk.

Lakewood Dedication

Thomas W. Roberts, senior elder of Lakewood Presbyterian Church, will unveil the cornerstone of the church's new sanctuary at the 11 a.m. service Sunday. The church will be dedicated at 3 p.m. April 11.

Talmadge Vows Road-Plan Aid

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 26—Gov. Talmadge told the Florida Association of County Commissioners here Friday Georgia stands ready to participate in all cooperative plans to further highway progress in the South.

"We have double grants to our counties for road work from $4,500,000 to nearly $10,000,000," he said. "We also have halted diversion of highway user taxes to purposes other than road building and maintenance. As a result, during the present administration we have let over 13,000 miles of contracts for various types of road work. We are carrying out the greatest rural road program in our state's history."

Pre-Easter Shopping Shows Pickup Here

By JIM MONTGOMERY

Atlanta merchants are hoping for mild weather during the next three weeks to help boost Easter Parade apparel sales to record or near-record levels.

That's two weeks more than they could count on last year at this time when Easter buying was already in full swing. Shopping here picked up some this week over last, thanks to the approaching season and numerous sales.

The same pattern was observed across the nation by Dun & Bradstreet. Their Friday report said spending increased slightly in the week ended Wednesday although not enough to surpass peak Easter sales volume for the same week a year ago.

They estimated total dollar volume of retail trade in the past week at 3 per cent below to 1 per cent above last year. The South fared better, with volume ranging from 2 per cent under to 2 per cent over the 1953 level. Regionally, only the Northwest and Pacific Coast topped Dixie.

The firm noted that still rising coffee prices pushed tea sales well above last year's levels. Consumer buying of other foods rose slightly over a year ago. Sales of household goods remained moderately below 1953 as price conscious shoppers sought sizeable discounts.

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—World sugar futures were steady but dull today, reflecting lack of activity in world raws. World raws were quoted at about 3.25 cents a pound f.o.b. Cuba.

Trade buying brought small gains in domestic sugar futures.

Domestic raws were held at 6.15 cents a pound delivered basis. Refiner interest was about 6.10 cents. It was reported that on Thursday a New York refiner bought 33,000 bags of Puerto Ricos for first half April shipment at 6.12 cents a pound and later purchased 7,000 tons of Philippines due April 17 at 6.10 cents.

The refined market was quiet. Dealers said that they had some difficulty in obtaining some types of sugar from cane refiners. Refiners' supplies are being rapidly exhausted as a result of the waterfront strike.

Domestic sugar futures No. 6 closed 1 to 2 higher. Sales, 81 contracts.

Stocks Snap Dip With Sharp Rise

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The sharp three-day reaction in the stock market was snapped off today with a rally that posted some substantial gains.

The aircrafts, oils, chemicals and mining stocks were well out in front, but almost all major divisions of the market had a firm hand in the rise.

Gains ran up between 1 and 2 points frequently, and some issues pushed well beyond that point.

Today's advance was a natural development when prices were pounded as heavily as they were earlier in the week. There was plenty of argument as to the strength of the movement today in view of the light volume. However, the ability of the market to stage as strong a comeback as this at all aroused favorable comment.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was ahead 60 cents at $115.20. Yesterday it lost 40 cents.

Gulf Awards Service Pins To 136 Here

Some 136 employes of the Gulf Oil Corp.'s Atlanta sales division were given service awards at a banquet Friday night at the Capital City Club.

Diamond and ruby lapel pins and engraved certificates were presented the employes as a token of appreciation for long and loyal service. G. Everett Millican, general manager of the division, was principal speaker.

The ceremonies were part of a country-wide program for recognition of Gulf's veteran employes. A total of almost 16,625 active domestic employes now belong to this group—or approximately 48 per cent of Gulf's total working force in the United States.

The employes with the longest record of service honored Friday night were Frank D. H. Brinson, Allen A. Osteen and Walker L. Ray with 35 years each.

Others with long periods of service include 18 with 30 years, 36 with 25 years, 34 with 20 years, and 12 with 15 years. Another 33 employes entered the veteran group for the first time and received 10-year service awards.

Poultry Buyer Fined $500 in Bad Check Case

An Alpharetta wholesale poultry dealer was convicted Friday on charges that he used bad checks to pay for chickens he bought from farmers in north Fulton County.

Solicitor John I. Kelley charged that W. O. Moore, 40, bought chickens worth $20,000 from several farmers and paid for them with bad checks.

Fulton Criminal Court Judge Charles Bruce ordered Moore to repay the farmers at the rate of $300 a month. Moore already has made half of the checks good.

Moore was convicted on two of eight counts in a cheating-and-swindling accusation. Judge Bruce fined him $500 and gave him a three-year suspended sentence.

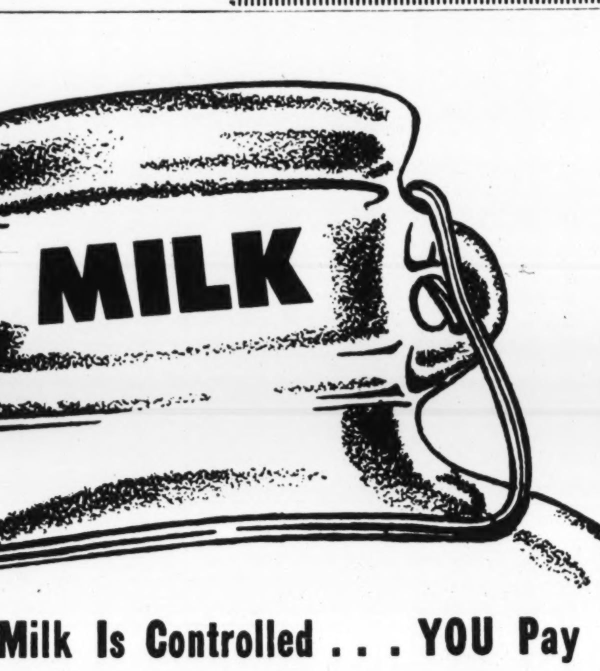
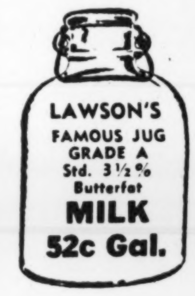
J. J. LAWSON





When Milk Is Controlled . . . YOU Pay

The Lawson Milk Company started with an idea 15 years ago that a plan of milk processing and distribution could and should be devised and developed, whereby milk could be sold at prices low enough to fit every income bracket. Lawson's wanted to make it possible for people with large families to have all the milk they needed, since milk is the most essential food we have for babies and growing children, and is the most complete food for the whole family.

It has been the policy of The Lawson Milk Company, under this plan, to sell milk as cheaply as possible, consistent with the highest standards of quality. From the start, we were able to sell milk under this plan so cheaply that people could afford to buy it by the gallon.

It was then Lawson's started to put up milk in gallon glass jugs, with a convenient carrying handle, selling it through company-owned dairy stores, at 30 to 40 percent below the average retail delivered price. About 15 years ago we opened our first dairy store. Now we operate 92 stores in the Akron, Cleveland and Canton districts. The influence of this plan and the use of it has brought the price of milk down to all milk consumers in our markets. They now can buy all their milk far below the national average retail price, with savings of as much as $100 per year on milk alone for the average family of four.

At the same time Lawson's has paid milk suppliers equal to, or above, the top market price and has paid employees equal to, or above, the average local wage of the industry.

How has this been done? By using the most modern and up-to-date methods used anywhere in the industry for the processing and the distribution of fresh milk in large containers.

Legislators, Federal Milk Control Boards, and State Milk Control Boards have given the appearance for many years (and maybe, sincerely so) that they are trying to solve the milk producer and the milk consumer problems of the Country. Is it possible that The Lawson Milk Company might have a simple remedy for some of these problems? Our plan is no secret and can be used nationwide, if desired and if not blocked by controls.

The Lawson plan was developed and put into operation for the purpose of selling milk at a much lower price than prevailing market prices. We have saved our customers 30 to 40 per cent on their milk purchases since 1939. But, as we have entered new markets which are Federal controlled, we have been penalized as much as $20,000.00 per month for selling our milk under the prevailing price in that market.

The Federal, State, and Dealer Association control policies, since the middle thirties, have sought to place the highest price on the fluid milk which is sold to the housewife. The milk to housewives is always priced much higher than any other milk sold in the market. Result—she just buys less than she otherwise would buy if she was getting it at a more reasonable price. Many housewives cannot afford enough milk for their family's needs at the higher prices. This is the main reason for the surplus milk and butter in the Country.

Why set the price of milk to the housewife so high that she cannot afford to buy what she needs . . . and then tax her to pay for what she can't buy . . . tax her to pay for the Government storage on the surplus milk and butter until it is disposed of by the Government . . . and then add a little bit more to her taxes to pay for Government enforcement costs? It looks like the housewife is having to pay for a lot that she is not getting and the innocent, helpless children in the Country are the victims of evil abuses of National and State Milk Control Systems.

A Detailed Report on National Milk Production and Consumption for 1952

U. S. total milk production .... 756 lbs. per capita
U. S. consumption of all dairy products .... 694 lbs. per capita
U. S. consumption of manufactured dairy products 342 lbs. per capita
U. S. consumption of fluid milk and cream .... 352 lbs. per capita

Akron's consumption of fluid milk & cream, 536 lbs. per capita, or 184 lbs. per person more than National average.

HAD THE REST OF THE NATION CONSUMED AS MUCH MILK PER PERSON LAST YEAR AS DID THE PEOPLE OF AKRON, THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN A SHORTAGE OF MILK PRODUCTION OF MORE THAN 15 BILLION LBS. THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN NO "DAIRY PROBLEM" . . . CONSUMERS, FARMERS, THE GOVERNMENT AND PROCESSORS, ALL WOULD HAVE BENEFITED.

THE LAWSON MILK COMPANY, AKRON, OHIO

Barwick Asks Probe Of Solicitation Charge

the board is justified to investigate these charges. I will call the meeting," Walker said. "We will not duck our responsibility to the people of Georgia or to the state employes."

GOWEN PRODS BOARD

Barwick's request came after Gowen had issued a statement here declaring:

"If the Merit Board hasn't the guts to handle what Roy Harris has uncovered, then the Merit System is out the window and the spoils system is ruling the roost."

Harris had charged that Albert Dozier, director of the sales tax unit, had asked $100 contributions of his employes for the gubernatorial campaign of Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin.

Griffin Friday branded the charges as "frantic efforts by my political enemies to embarrass my friends." He said he had no knowledge of any state employes soliciting funds for him.

GRIFFIN GRATEFUL

"I have not asked any of them to do so," Griffin continued. "I have not asked anyone else to solicit from them. I am proud that these employes are my friends and I regret that frantic efforts are being made by my political enemies to embarrass them. I am grateful for whatever my friends do in my behalf and I have always been."

Dozier said Friday he was sure that no funds have been turned over to any gubernatorial candidate by the employes of his division. He again denied that he had assessed any employes $100 each. State Revenue Commissioner Charlie Redwine has ordered any money collected to be returned to the donors.

Gubernatorial candidate Fred Hand, who had charged some state employes with taking polls for the political advantage of one candidate and actively soliciting campaign funds, Friday declined to comment on the new developments.

THOMPSON REACTION

Gubernatorial candidate M. E. Thompson steered clear of the argument. Said Thompson: "I am not going to enter into any row that has been initiated and apparently will be carried on in this campaign between the House speaker and the Senate president."

Hand and Griffin are both seeking support from the Talmadge administration, while Thompson and Gowen are Talmadge critics.

Griffin Friday had replied to Barwick's letter of March 17 asking assurances of all gubernatorial candidates that Merit System employes be protected if they stay out of politics this summer.

Griffin said: "Those state employes under the Merit System who engage in politics should not expect to be protected by the Merit System."

TRIPLETS POLITICALLY NEUTRAL AT 86—MARLBORO, Mass., March 26—Mrs. Faith MacDonnell, Mrs. Hope Daniels and Mrs. Charity Murphy, triplets, display a letter from President Eisenhower congratulating them on their 86th birthday tomorrow. In the past, the sisters have said they were Democrats, but after the nice letter from Ike they decided they were "in between" now.

Ike Housing Plan Dies in Committee

least give Eisenhower the 35,000 units he called for in the coming fiscal year was defeated by a vote of 26-9.

The committee reported out a bill containing recommendations for $5,566,118,763 to finance the operations of nearly 30 so-called independent agencies of the government. This total was $363,604,837 under the budget estimates and gave the appearance of a 6 per cent "economy" cut.

EXAMPLE CITED

It was conceded, though, that much of this present saving might have to be returned to outlay. An example was found in veterans' benefits payments. The estimates had been cut hard. Only yesterday the House voted for a supplemental appropriation of $215,000,000 to return that much of $300,000,000 that had been cut from estimates for the current fiscal year in a similar economy move.

In no instance did the committee approve funds in excess of the budget estimates. The proposed cuts ran through the agencies from $12,000 for the National Capital Planning Commission, to $152,039,300 for the AEC.

As to the public housing, the committee appeared to have soured on the program, even though Eisenhower had made it a part of a special message to Congress on Jan. 25.

4-YEAR INDICATION

This message had indicated to many that the President, while wanting to modify the program, started under Democratic auspices, still wanted to keep it going for four years at a rate of some 35,000 units a year.

The action of the House appropriations group appeared to coincide with the mood of the House Banking and Currency Committee, also under Republican control at a ratio of 16-14, but with Democrats generally eager for public housing programs.

The banking and currency group appeared to be so arrayed on the question that it would back up the plan of the appropriations panel.

3 Killed and 6 Hurt In Georgia Collisions

Kessner received cuts on his left leg and hip, and elbow.

Doraville Police Chief E. H. Kidd said the pickup truck in which Simpson and Kessner were riding blew a tire, swerved across the highway and collided head-on with the Cooper car. Both vehicles were virtually demolished, he said.

In Chatsworth, the younger Porter told the sheriff the crash occurred as he swerved his car to the left side of the highway in an effort to dodge the truck, which he said was traveling on the wrong side of the road. He said the truck driver swerved at the same time and the two vehicles crashed.

At Benton, Tenn., Sheriff John Edwards said he was holding two men who were charged with stealing Gresham's wallet after the Chatsworth wreck. Edwards identified the pair as Thomas Spangler, 22, and Bill Thompson, 28, both of Knoxville.

The sheriff said the men would be turned over to Georgia officials.

Prisoner Seeks Shower, Pillows For Jail Comfort

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 26—Hiram Bailey went to Kentucky's highest court today seeking a shower and two pillows for his comfort in the Pike County jail.

Although the prisoner offered to pay for the shower, the Court of Appeals ruled that Jailer Frank Coleman lacked authority to permit alterations of his jail.

As for the pillows, the court held that was a matter for the jailer's discretion.

Bailey, who weighs 300 pounds, is serving 60 days for possessing whisky for sale in dry territory.

Forgery Term Is Suspended For Atlantan

MIAMI, March 26—(INS)—An Atlanta plumber who admitted cashing forged checks totaling $3,500 received a suspended sentence in Miami Federal Court today when he pleaded with the judge to "let me salvage what's left of my life."

Samuel Harold Long, 34, heard Federal Judge John W. Holland impose a three-year sentence upon him as Long's wife and two sons stood in the courtroom.

The jurist asked Long if there was any reason why he should not be sent to jail. Long cited a record of participation in four invasions in World War II and then burst into tears.

He turned to his wife and two sons, Bobby, 10, and Billy, 5. The judge told them to come to the bench and announced that he was suspending sentence "because your wife has got an affection for you that commands respect."

Long's wife came to Miami from Atlanta for the trial.

Two other members of the forgery ring received sentences of two years and 10 months each.

Says He's Sought In Ga. Slaying

BALTIMORE, Md., March 26, (INS)—Odell L. Dempsey, 46, walked into a Baltimore police station tonight and said he was wanted in Calhoun, Ga., for slaying his mother.

Police, who reported the incident, held Dempsey for Georgia authorities. They said Dempsey told them he escaped from Georgia police March 9 shortly before he was to undergo a psychiatric examination.

They added that Dempsey said he hitch-hiked to Baltimore from Georgia, but was broke and hungry and decided to surrender.

H-Bomb Test Films To Be Shown April 7

have been cut out by the censors in the interests of national security. What remains, however, will be made available by the Civil Defense Administration to newsreels and television networks for showings starting at 6 p.m. EST April 7.

A series of "still" photographs taken from the movie are being released to newspapers and magazines for use at the same time the film is shown.

UNDER CONSIDERATION

Eisenhower said at his news conference last Wednesday that he was considering letting the public know more about progress in the field of nuclear weapons. As the world enters the atomic age, he said, people have many legitimate questions to ask. But he added that the answers would depend on whether they jeopardized the security of the United States.

The President authorized release of the 1952 film after consultation with the National Security Council, which he heads.

The test that year, known as "Operation Ivy," was conducted in the Eniwetok area. Another, and far greater, hydrogen blast was set off in the Pacific last March 1, and further tests are scheduled by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The Armed Services Committee met behind closed doors yesterday with Robert C. Sprague, North Adams, Mass., engineer and electronics manufacturer, who had been commissioned to make a survey of preparations for continental defense against atomic attack.

GUARDED STATEMENT

Afterward, Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) issued a cautious statement saying secret defense had been reviewed and that senators got a picture of an "effective" defense plan which could not, however, guarantee anything like "complete protection."

Other senators spoke of key plans to move the population rapidly away from congested industrial areas threatened with bombardment.

Another project, they said, was expansion of the NIKE installations now ringing 10 potential target areas to about 30 or 35. NIKEs are high-speed guided missiles designed to seek and destroy enemy aircraft.

The committee met privately again today for a question-and-answer session.

Death Given Hornbeck in Fla. Slaying

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Samuel J. Hornbeck Jr., convicted of first degree murder in the shooting of a Duval County patrolman during a gun battle last December, was sentenced today to die in the Florida electric chair.

Circuit Judge Edwin L. Jones passed sentence after denying two motions by Hornbeck's court-appointed attorneys to reduce the first degree murder conviction or grant a new trial for the 34-year-old convicted bank robber.

Hornbeck and a pal, Myron P. Goldman, tried to shoot their way out of a police trap after they held up a restaurant and bar. Goldman was killed as was Duval Patrolman T. A. Robinson Jr.

The trial jury's verdict automatically carried a death sentence but Florida law permits a judge to reduce the verdict if he believes the evidence warranted conviction in a lesser degree.

Hornbeck's attorneys argued the evidence did not sustain the first degree conviction but did support conviction in a lesser degree.

Mice Cancer Growth Slowed With Antibiotic

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

KANSAS CITY, March 26 (AP)—A new antibiotic, azaserine, is a hopeful new weapon against cancers, the American Chemical Society was told today.

It can hit hard at cancers in mice, slowing the cancer's growth. And it often destroys certain cancers in mice when combined in a one-two punch with another anti-cancer drug.

Early tests with azaserine on several forms of human cancers have not been impressive yet, but researchers hope for better results later, said Dr. C. Chester Stock of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, New York City.

Azaserine, obtained from a mold, was developed in a cooperative project between Sloan-Kettering and Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.

Parke, Davis scientists isolated the antibiotic and developed four ways to make it synthetically. Sloan-Kettering, which tests hundreds of drugs for anticancer activity, found it one of the most effective agents against mouse cancer, Dr. Stock said.

One reason for keen interest in azaserine is that it is much less toxic or poisonous to animals than other drugs in doses which hit the cancer.

Small doses of azaserine and another drug, 6-mercaptopurine, destroyed half of the cancers transplanted to mice, with all those mice recovering, reported Dr. Donald A. Clarke of Sloan-Kettering.

He said the combined use of the two drugs might be especially valuable in preventing development of strains of cancer cells which are resistant to drugs. Several drugs, for example, temporarily control leukemia or cancer of the blood, but each drug loses its potency in time when leukemic cells develop resistance to it.

P. J. Ludzack, chemist at the U. S. Public Health Service's sanitary engineering center, Cincinnati, was presented the Bartow award of the society's water, sewage and sanitation chemistry division tonight. It was given for a paper of which he, W. A. Moore and C. C. Ruchhoft of the center were co-authors and which was read at the society's meeting in Chicago last September. The paper dealt with methods of measuring toxic compounds in metal treating, coking and refinery wastes.

125 of 200 Clio Patrons Accept Offer

CLIO, Ala., March 26 (AP)—A group of depositors of the defunct Clio Merchants Exchange agreed tonight on an out-of-court settlement that promised to give them back as much as 90 cents on the dollar.

The action came at a mass meeting called to work out a plan for making up the $75,000 deficit which appeared in the records of the private exchange. President Royall Reynolds disappeared and returned 12 days later.

While the agreement was reached by approximately 125 of the estimated 200 depositors, only 67 signed tonight. The others indicated they would sign later.

The agreement is binding only if all the other depositors give their consent. One dissenter could throw the matter into bankruptcy.

CITY HALL

New Road Bypasses N'side Dr.

By HERMAN HANCOCK

A new traffic artery to relieve Northside drive congestion was available for the first time Friday with the opening of a three-mile stretch of four-lane highway from Marietta street to Bolton road.

Col. Garland Steele, city liaison engineer on highway development, said the route of the old Marietta car line has been converted and that trucks which formerly used Northside drive can now by-pass that artery in traveling from Atlanta to Marietta.

Most of the stretch has been open for several months, but the bridge over the Southern and N., C. & St. L. railroad tracks has just been completed and opened to traffic.

The new stretch begins at Marietta and Huff road and extends three miles to Bolton road, connecting directly to the Marietta road.

Atom Film Scheduled

The city department heads organization will view the film "A Is for Atom" at a meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Buckhead Elks Club, 2765 Peachtree Rd., NE, William R. Wofford, organization president, said Friday. John Settelmayer, library director, made the arrangements and will show the film. Wofford also said he will appoint a nominating committee for new officers of the association of division chiefs. If precedent is followed, Vice President Stafford Graydon will be elevated to president and Secretary Carl Sutherland will be named vice president. The only other post to be filled under the rotation system is that of secretary.

Pushes for Pay Rise

City Personnel Director Carl Sutherland Friday reiterated his demand for salary increases and a 40-hour week for most city employes to reduce job turnovers and to meet competition from private business. Sutherland previously had urged the changes, but incorporated them in an annual report of 1953 activities of his division. City administration leaders failed to act on his recommendations because of lack of funds.

New Lottery Trial Granted To Legs Law

Glenn (Legs) Law, man of many encounters with police, has been granted a new trial on a lottery charge on which he was convicted last September.

The new trial was granted by Superior Court Judge Claude Shaw after Law's attorney, Wesley Asinof, argued that Fulton Criminal Court Judge Luther Alverson had erred in charging the jury.

At the same time, Judge Shaw denied former City Councilman Joe Allen's request for a new trial on a charge that Allen was "drunk and boisterous on a public highway." Allen was found guilty of the charge last October and was fined $150.

Law drew a three-year jail sentence in the lottery case after a jury found him guilty of operating a $500,000-a-year numbers racket.

Crawford Long capped 42 in exercises at the nurses home auditorium.

Smoke, but Slowly, Just Half Of Cigarette, Allergist Says

By MARJORY SMITH

Smoking may be bad for you—but the odds are against your giving it up. Persuading a patient to cut out smoking entirely is "one of a doctor's toughest problem," a panel of allergy experts agreed here Friday.

And Dr. Ethan Allan Brown of Boston, Mass., added he thought widespread smoking would prevail "as long as we lead the lives of quiet desperation our modern society demands."

TEDIUM RELIEF

"It's a part of our civilization," he declared, pointing out that men and women today use a cigarette as "a relief from tedium . . . a reward for something we have accomplished . . . a social gambit."

Another Southeastern Allergy Association panelist, Dr. Carl C. Jones Jr. of Atlanta, offered some tips for "less harmful smoking." They included:

(1) Never smoke a cigarette beyond the three-quarter mark; better still, throw away the entire last half, to prevent drying and heating effects of the tobacco smoke.

(2) Don't smoke "fast and furiously," but the "mild and intermittent puffs" and take a full 10 minutes to smoke that half a cigarette.

LESS NICOTINE

(3) Select a brand with low nicotine content (domestic brands have the highest amount of nicotine; blends the next, and West Indian, Egyptian, or Turkish tobaccos the least nicotine).

(4) Use a cigarette holder, but make sure you change the filter with each cigarette or you may be inhaling even more nicotine with the used filter.

About 100 physicians from all over the Southeast will end a three-day meeting here Saturday. The group Friday heard Dr. Homer Prince of Houston, Texas, president-elect of the American College of Allergies, discuss the role of molds as a major allergy cause. Dr. Hal Davison, chief of medicine at Georgia Baptist Hospital, told the convention more allergy specialists are needed. He reported an estimated 10,000,000 persons now suffer from allergic diseases in the United States, with less than 2,000 physicians qualified to treat them.

Thompson, Hand Pledge No Tax Rise

Two gubernatorial candidates Friday said they could finance a higher state budget without increasing taxes.

At Dalton, House Speaker Fred Hand of Pelham said he could "project the Talmadge administration program" into the next administration at an additional cost of $24 million without increasing taxes.

Former acting Gov. M. E. Thompson, speaking at Ray City, declared he could finance expanded state services without changing the tax rate.

"We will increase collection of taxes under the present levies; we will eliminate waste, and we will add services," Thompson said. "What I did as revenue commissioner and governor is best proof of what I can do if I am permitted to serve again. In less than four years in office, I increased collections $45,000,000 without changing the tax laws."

While Hand said he could pay the increased costs of carrying on the accomplishments of the Talmadge administration, he declared that the "adequate foundation plan for education" cannot be financed without additional taxes. The candidate said he would make a statement later on how he would finance the $24 million "normal" expansion — and whether he would advocate the new school program.

Schools Held Normal With Races Mixed

Despite predictions of violence more than 2,000 Negroes have attended nonsegregated colleges in the South in the past five years without a "single serious incident of friction," the president of the Southern Sociological Society declared here Friday night.

"There were some rather wild rumors in a few schools at first," Guy B. Johnson told a dinner meeting of the group at its 17th annual meeting at the Biltmore Hotel, "but they were soon dispelled."

Today, the sociologist said, there is little official discrimination against the Negro students, now attending colleges and universities in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia.

"In fact," Johnson added, "one can say there has already emerged a norm in which the administration takes pride, namely, that there is equality of campus citizenship."

The speaker said he believes the U.S. Supreme Court will "hold against compulsory segregation in public schools."

The speaker concluded that whether the court takes a flat stand against legal segregation or reaffirms the separate-but-equal doctrine, the net effect is going to be about the same.

Jobless Man Tries Suicide Twice in Cell

A 42-year-old unemployed textile worker, who was being held on a drunk driving charge, tried twice Friday to hang himself in jail, police said. He was stopped in both instances by turnkeys.

The man used his shirt as a noose in the first try at 11:40 a.m. Guards cut him down and he was taken to Grady Hospital for examination. He was returned to his cell at 12:20 p.m. and stripped to his underwear.

Shortly thereafter, he tried to hang himself with a noose made from his undershirt. This time, he was stripped to the skin and placed in a bare cell where a trusty prisoner kept watch on him until the 5 p.m. session of traffic court.

Judge Frank White held him in $200 bond on the drunk driving charge and sentenced him to $25 or 25 days for driving on the wrong side of the street. He was transferred to the city prison farm.

Nash Acquitted In Lovers' Lane Slaying Case

Willie Nash, 39-year-old Hapeville Negro, was acquitted of a murder charge Friday in the lovers' lane slaying of Marvin Lindsey last November.

An all-white jury deliberated five hours before returning a verdict in the case.

Lindsey was bludgeoned to death while he and a woman were parked in his car on a lonely side road in south Fulton County.

Nash took the witness stand and, in an unsworn statement, said he knew nothing about the killing.

GEORGIA NEWS

Polk's Cornelius Fined In Assault, Oath Cases

Constitution State News Service

M. M. Cornelius, Polk County Representative, Friday pleaded guilty in city court to charges of assault and battery and using obscene, vulgar and profane language.

He was sentenced to serve in the public works camp for 12 months or pay a fine of $150 on each count. A court official said the fine was paid.

The charges came in connection with an incident that happened when Gov. Talmadge was here to dedicate the Polk County Health Center. Cornelius was charged with assault and battery by County Atty. Henry Stewart.

Cornelius said he had been invited to a luncheon honoring Gov. Talmadge, but when he arrived he had no place to sit.

He held Stewart at fault, he said, and was provoked to "slap him."

Cornelius said he hit him after the attorney told him he represented "little people." A short while later during dedication ceremonies in the courtroom for the new health building Cornelius was reported to have "made a remark" about Stewart.

Carroll Bond Issue

The Carroll County Board of Education has postponed a school bond election set for April 17, but members made it clear they will continue plans for a consolidation program now in progress.

Federal Sentences

Dr. James L. Nevil, Metter physician, was fined $5,000 for income tax evasion; and Henry W. Kinman, Atlanta battery rebuilder drew a year's prison sentence for counterfeiting in Atlanta Friday in U.S. District Court. . . . Polk County School Supt. Kankakee Anderson told Cedartown Exchange Club members "I do not believe that destroying the public school system will preserve the pattern of segregation." We could, if the state would leave us alone, maintain segregated public schools in Polk County during our lifetime," he added. . . . A mining engineer said Friday that deposits of titanium, a scarce metal used in making jet planes, have been found in Aiken County along Horse Creek Valley. . . . A Dougherty County Superior Court jury has convicted Alan W. Williams, 20, Turner Air Force airman from Boston, Mass., of kidnaping and fixed a four-year sentence for the Nov. 24 kidnaping of Patsy McLeod, 5-year-old Albany girl.

$1.5 Million Low Bid for Dinkler Job

A low base bid of $1,573,000 for the construction of a 16-story addition to the Dinkler Plaza Hotel in Atlanta was submitted Friday by the Byck Worrell Co. of Savannah, according to A. J. Crocy, manager of the hotel.

Eight firms bid on the project, he said. The bids were opened by Cecil Alexander of the firm of Alexander & Rothschild, Atlanta architects, who said no decision on awarding the contract will be reached until next week at the earliest.

Crocy said the planned addition would accommodate 250 guests. It will adjoin the back of the present building. Construction plans will not be announced until the contract is awarded, he added.

$9,476 Theft of Shoes Is Charged to Pair

Two Negro employes of a Spring street, NW, shoe store Friday were booked on charges of disorderly conduct-larceny in connection with the theft of $9,476 worth of shoes during the last eight months, police said.

Detective A. W. Jones and O. W. Allen identified the two as O. B. Smith, 25, of 497 North Ave., NW, placed under $500 bond, and Andrew Harris, 34, of 641 Greensferry St., SW, placed under $100 bond. A hearing is scheduled Monday in municipal court.

Big Bite of Apple— And His Jaws Lock

An apple a day keeps the doctor away.

Bosh, says Charles E. Garner, 19, of 483 Windsor St., SW.

Garner opened wide his mouth Friday to take a big bite out of an apple. Then his jaws locked.

Garner visited the doctors at Grady hospital, who corrected the condition.

Federal Terms Given Kulbersh And Malloway

Federal Court here Friday dealt the latest hand in the gambling troubles of Irwin (Little Kube) Kulbersh and D. T. (Blackie) Malloway and showed the Atlantans a pair of one-year prison sentences.

The two, involved in the recent West Peachtree street gambling den raid, had changed their not guilty pleas to nolo contendre (no contest) to government charges of accepting bets on sports events and not registering as gamblers in 1952.

Judge Frank Hooper pronounced the sentences—but put off imposing the prison terms until April 2 at the request of the defendants' attorney, Frank Morrison.

Capitol Area Landowner Asks Ruling

An Atlanta man has filed a suit in Fulton Superior Court challenging legality of the state's method of condemning private property for public use.

The suit was filed by Joe C. Tribble, owner of Capitol avenue property the state wants to condemn for an addition to the State Highway Deparment Building.

Tribble mainains that the law setting up a state property purchase committee (composed of the governor, attorney general and state auditor) to handle condemnations for public use is unconstitutional.

Tribble contends the courts, not the committee, should handle assessments of the value of the property the state condemns.

Tribble says the committee offered him $16,000 for his property. He claims it is worth $40,000.

Spring Night In Georgia

Night falls and the meadow larks
Chirp their sleepy little tune.
Across the hill a hound dog barks,
And down the sky the crescent moon
Swims in a pool of fiery stars,
Shining like the lamp of God.
The crickets play their small guitars
And up the lane the cattle plod.
The red earth lies in peaceful slumber,
Pulling the dark across her breast
Like a soft quilt which she sinks under
When it is time for her to rest.

Israelites Began Public Relations

By JEANNE HIGGINS
Constitution Food Editor

Public relations is ages old to Mrs. Martha McCormick Kelly, field home economist for a leading food corporation in New York, who traces first practiced good relations with the public to the Ten Commandments.

Mrs. Kelly visited Atlanta en route to Macon, where she spoke Friday at the Georgia Home Economics Association convention. Topic of the speech was "Your Public Relations." She began with history of the field and brought it up to date in evaluating public relations today.

The entire United States is the field for her work in consumer service, where Mrs. Kelly spends most of her time with women and children. She works with Future Homemakers of America, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls and Women's Clubs.

A program kit on food is being planned at present, and will be presented to the General Federations of Women's Clubs being held this year in Denver.

The G.H.E.A. convention concludes at luncheon today. Prominent speakers for the day include Miss Frances Urban, home economist and national field secretary of the American Home Economics Assn., on the subject, "Who Are Our Leaders in Home Economics Today?" and Miss Gale Ueland, Home Economist Federal Extension Service, Washington, D.C., who is speaking on "Let's Appeal to Mrs. Consumer."

Parliamentary Law Classes To Be Held

Two classes in parliamentary law will be held under sponsorship of the Uncle Remus Memorial Assn. from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday at the Wren's Nest.

Mrs. Murray Howard will be instructor. The public may attend. Advance registration should be made through Mrs. Walter Sheffield, 2658 Tupelo St., SE, or Mrs. Howard, 1130 Piedmont Ave., NE.

Sally Crutchfield gets a premature blacking to rehearse for the lead in the Russell High senior play. The three-act comedy will be presented Friday night at 8 o'clock at the East Point City Auditorium. The play also stars James Hardy, left, and Pat Fowler. Mrs. A. D. Grabenhorst, dramatics teacher, is directing the production, which highlights the senior year.

Teachers, Chores Fun at West Fulton Camp

By DOTTY LUNDY

West Fulton High eighth graders are learning again this weekend that both teachers and dishwashing can be fun.

The first two citizenship classes at West Fulton took the trail Thursday for three days of camping at Hard Labor Creek State Park. Others will follow each weekend.

The program, which director Clyde Kimball believes the only one of its kind in the state, gives each eighth grader a weekend of learning good citizenship by roughing it before school is out.

COMMITTEES ORGANIZED

The camp, now in its third year, is set up as a laboratory in group living, and as a means of learning conservation and natural resources, explains Mr. Kimball. Organized like a city, the campers serve as mayor and council.

When the bus loads up with a fresh crop of dungaree-clad boys and girls each Thursday, athletic equipment and books are left behind.

"We don't do anything at camp that we can do at school," points out Miss Margaret Thompson, assistant director. Blue jeans are standard uniform. The campers sleep in the cabins, cook their own food and wash up after meals. During the day they hike, get lessons in nature lore from the camp forester, square dance and worship before bedtime. Everybody "cooks out" his Saturday breakfast.

Upperclassmen, three boys and three girls, who are veterans of the woods, serve as counselors. Besides Mr. Kimball and Miss Thompson, faculty on the camp committee are Mrs. Louise Loudermilk, H. B. Sims and Miss Barbara Pause.

The values of camping are explained by the teachers in phrases like "learning to live and work together." But perhaps students' comments are more direct, such as "My greatest thrill was planting a pine tree," and "Teachers can take a joke."

AVONDALE PLAY

"We Shook the Family Tree," a three-act comedy in-the-round, starring Jean Fargason, will be presented by Avondale seniors in May. The play is directed by Mrs. Hilda Dyches. Others in the cast are Marvin Britt, Laura Nickel, Joyce Bonner, Buddy Hurt, Billy Brand, Barbara Humphries, Betty Williams, Pat Ducote, Fred Hughes, Edward Scarborough and Ila Varelmann.

Teen-age boys and girl can become the swingingest by joining coed dancing classes on Tuesday at the YWCA. Girls can pack a double whammy by taking lessons at the YW in tennis, swimming and charm.

Registration and classes will begin the week of March 29 at the YW, 72 Edgewood Ave., NE. Any high school student is eligible.

Tennis meets Mondays and Wednesdays from 4 to 5 p.m. and swimming, beginning and advanced, Thursdays from 3:30 to 4:30.

Aided by five bales of mosquito netting, the Bass Recreation Council will transform the gym into an undersea wonderland with a night-club atmosphere April 2 for the Neptune Ball.

Frank Hurt's five-piece band, the "Star-Dusters," will furnish music for the semiformal dance from 8:30 until midnight. A floor show at intermission will feature Carolyn Hendricks, singer and dancer, who is a Bass alumna; a group of dancers from Jack Rand Dance Studio, and a Baton Act composed of Bass girls.

Fairway's Patty Berg To Visit Atlanta

One of the leading members of the fairway contingent, Patty Berg, is scheduled for a visit to Atlanta on Tuesday, with the East Lake Country Club as her host.

Miss Berg will show the club's women golfers how to beat the men at their own game. Her performance will take the form of a golfing clinic for members of the East Lake Women's Golf Assn. who will be hostesses that day to other chapters of the Atlanta Women's Golf Assn.

A special luncheon will be served before the golf champion swings into action at 1 o'clock.

MRS. GLENN RYMAN has returned from New York, where she spent the past five weeks with her daughter, Miss Glenn Ryman, who is attending the American School of Ballet there.

Miss Ryman will arrive April 13 to visit her mother and to stand as godmother at the christening of her small cousin, William A. Fulton Jr., which will be held at the Ryman home on Habersham road on Easter Sunday.

BON VOYAGE—Mrs. Henry P. Heid Jr., left, Mrs. Irving Gresham Jr. and her small son, Orme, were photographed aboard the S.S. In the latter country they will visit Mrs. Gresham's mother, Mrs. Jean Bienvenu, and Mr. Bienvenu at their home near Tours.

MRS. J. HENLEY CROSLAND will return the first of next week from New York, where she has been a guest at the Barbizon Plaza since Wednesday.

A PAIR OF NEWCOMERS, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher J. Carson, will be honor guests at a reception to be given Sunday from 4 to 6 o'clock by Miss May Terrell at her home at 2369 Glenwood Dr., NE.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson and their young sons, David and Jeff, recently arrived from St. Louis for residence here. Friends in the neighborhood have been invited to meet them. A feature of entertainment will be the display of fashions by a neighborhood designer, Gerald Underwood, with Miss Gay Daingerfield, small Deborah Underwood and George Bastain modeling.

MISS FRANCES STATEN arrives this weekend from Shorter College to spend her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Staten, on Fairview road. Miss Staten, a junior at Shorter, has just been elected president of the Eunomian Society there.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES PANTAGES leave Sunday for New York, where they will spend several days at the St. Moritz before sailing April 1 on the Nea Hellas for a visit to relatives in Greece. They will return after a two-month tour of southern Europe. They will be accompanied by Miss Denise Maniatis of Washington, D.C., formerly of Atlanta.

TEEN-AGER MARY HEFNER left Friday for Ellijay, where she is honor guest at a weekend house party given by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Dow Hamrick.

Guests accompanying her were Mary Jean Calloway, Nancy Norton, Carol Hudson, Collette Kelsey, Jimmy Vickers, Bruce Wilson, Al Flemming, Joe Sewell, Jerry Smith and Harry Ball of Atlanta, Janelle Kimsey of Montezuma and Tommy House of Decatur.

On Saturday Miss Hefner will celebrate her 16th birthday at a party to be given by the Hamricks at the Ellijay Community House, with teen-agers from Jasper and Ellijay attending.

ALICE CECILIA RICKELS, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Rickels, will be christened Sunday at the Interdenominational Church, Lakewood Heights. The date marks the sixth anniversary of her parents' marriage in the same church, with the same minister, the Rev. Wayne Brookshear, officiating.

Godparents will be Mr. and Mrs. William Meeks of Marietta, who served as groomsman and matron of honor in the Rickels wedding. The baby will wear the dress in which her maternal great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Richard Brinton of South Porcupine, Ontario, was christened in England 86 years ago. Mrs. Mary Alice Winn, who sang at the baptism.

NW Freeway Structures Included in 16 Road Bids

The State Highway Department received apparent low bids totaling $3,084,000 Friday on 16 road construction projects, including bridges and underpasses on the northwest leg of Atlanta's expressway system.

By a margin of only $56, the Wright Contracting Co., of Columbus outbid MacDougald Construction Co., of Atlanta with a $556,229 figure on the expressway projects. These include three bridges, two underpasses, widening of one bridge and .225 miles of approaches on the northwest leg.

Sam Allison, urban engineer of the State Highway Department, said these projects will complete all the structures on the expressway leg from Howell Mill Road to Nancy's Creek on the four-lane Marietta highway just north of West Pace's Ferry road.

The largest project in the bid opening included 7.259 miles of paving on the re-location of the Griffin-Atlanta road which is being converted into a four-lane route. Low bidder for this contract in Spalding, Henry and Clayton Counties was E. A. Hudson & Son of Bolton with $638,479.

Other projects and bids were:

Stewart County—3.9 miles paving on the County Line-Georgetown road, Hugh Steele Construction Co., Centre, Ala., $34,021.

Meriwether—9.857 miles paving on the Warm Springs-Woodbury road, Hugh Steele Construction Co., Centre, $302,174.

Turner—6.959 miles paving on the Cloverdale-Sycamore road, Bryant Bros., Camilla, $54,479.

Fulton—3 bridges, 2 underpasses, widening 1 bridge and .225 miles of approaches on northwest leg of the Atlanta Expressway, Wright Contracting Co., Columbus, $556,229.

Wilkinson—6.1381 miles paving on the Nicholsville Toomsboro road, D. W. Bailey, Jackson $90,715.

Monroe—6.381 miles paving on the Thomaston-Macon road, D. W. Bailey, Jackson, $137,871.

Burke—8.262 miles paving on the Midville-Vidette road, Wilkes Construcion Co., Inc., Washington, $100,077.

Forsyth—5.43 miles paving and bridge at Six-Mile Creek on the Coal Mountain-Gainesville road, Ledbetter-Johnson Co., Rome, $437,602.

Banks and Franklin—6.315 miles paving and one bridge on the Homer-Royston road, G. H. Law, contractor, Gainesville, $213,497.

Early—11.078 miles paving and one bridge on the Blakely-Damascus road, Sowega Farm Machinery Co., Edison, $238,295.

Sumter—5.599 miles paving on the Plains-Dawson road, Bryant Bros., Camilla, $39,117.

Clinch—5.229 miles paving and one bridge on the Fargo-Okefenokee Swamp road, E. P. Groover, Moultrie, $158,971.

Gordon—1.495 miles resurfacing on U.S. Highway 41 in City of Calhoun, Ledbetter-Johnsn Co., Rome, $46,977.

A Rhyme a Day

"American 'Hill-Billy' music, fast growing in popularity, may be the classical music of the future."—Television magazine article quote.

"Music hath charms" (when at its best) . . . to calm and "soothe the savage breast" . . . to lend enchantment to the dance . . . add flavor to some sweet romance . . . inspire the troops with martial airs . . . and lift the spirit that despairs.

But music at its worst can be . . . so terrible a sound that we . . . can't help but wonder who enjoys . . . the beat of such discordant noise . . . and yet some people, I suppose . . . enjoy a song sung through the nose . . . or relish some hill-billy thing . . . scraped out on one lone fiddle-string.

I guess, as usual, I'm wrong . . . and there is merit in the song . . . and in the mountain tune that fills . . . the valley where the moonshine-stills . . . inspire the rugged mountain boy . . . to sing his nasal song of joy . . . to "hitch his wagon to a star" . . . with adenoids and a guitar.

Emory Slates Alumni Day On April 10

Emory students will join "old grads" in observing Alumni Day on April 10, when a round of activities is planned on the campus.

Dr. Carter Smith of Atlanta, national alumni president, said the program, usually held in conjunction with June graduation exercises, was scheduled this year while school is still in progress so that students as well as alumni may participate.

The Alumni Day program includes a barbecue luncheon, glee club concert, Air Force ROTC review, athletic events, open house in Emory's divisions, and the play, "Borrowed Time," by the Emory Players.

Events include class reunions; Emory Medical Clinics, April 9; Nurses' Homecoming, April 9-10, and Alumni Council meeting, April 9.

Project Contest On Biology Work Offered Students

The Atlanta chapter of the Scientific Research Society of America has announced a contest on planning scientific projects in biology for 10th and 11th grade students in the Atlanta school system.

Dr. Theodore J. Bauer, chapter president and medical officer in charge of the U.S. Communicable Disease Center here, said contestants' papers should include the significance of the project, how it would be carried out, results explained and a list of bibliographic references to support the project.

First prize in the contest, which closes May 1, is $50, second $30 and third $20.

Scions Body To Elect

The Georgia Society of the Sons of the American Revolution will hold its annual meeting at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Piedmont Hotel, according to Folks Huxford of Homerville, president. Officers for the new year will be elected.
